

NEARLY CREMATED ALIVE

RELIEF BY CONGRESS IS STRONG HOPE OF JAPANESE DIPLOMAT

Few Brown Men Would Care to Become Citizens, Says Viscount.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Favorable action by Congress on the recommendation of the President in his latest annual message, that an act be passed specifically providing for the naturalization of Japanese who come to the United States intending to become American citizens will go far toward securing a continuance of the traditional friendly relations between this country and Japan, in the opinion of Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador.

"Of course," said Viscount Aoki today, "no nation likes to see its subjects leave to take up a permanent abode in a foreign land and lose all relation with the fatherland, but in many cases it cannot be helped."

The ambassador expressed the belief that there were not so many Japanese in this country to take advantage of naturalization if it were granted, but he thought that such an opportunity should be afforded them along with the citizens of other countries. He said he did not think it probable that those Japanese who were emigrating in large numbers to Hawaii and the Pacific Coast would avail themselves of naturalization, because of the fact that they represented the poorer class and most of them ultimately returned to Japan. Viscount Aoki said he had every confidence in the outcome of the test case which will be brought in the California courts.

That the Federal Government, by its action on the issue and placing responsibility for the alleged insult to Japan on California, has prevented immediate action is the firm conviction of politicians and officeholders in San Francisco, but that war with Japan will eventually be declared on every side.

SPIES DISCOVERED.
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—What is believed to be an attempt to get Japanese spies into the fortifications in Sandy Hook was made today.

Six hundred members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers were invited to witness gun tests in Fort Hancock this afternoon. The members of the society left for Sandy Hook on a special train on the New Jersey Central. No sooner had the train pulled out from the station in Jersey City than President Hutton began an investigation. He explained that some foreigners were on the train for the purpose of spying upon the Government fortifications. Mr. Hutton approached each member of the party with the question, "Are you an American citizen?"

His action created consternation among the party on the train. Word had come as the train was pulling out of the station that Japanese spies had got aboard.

The Japanese and their agents had attempted to purchase tickets for the trip early in the day. They were informed that none were for sale, and that they could not go. They left the depot. Later, however, other persons, believed not to be members of the Society of Mechanical Engineers, secured tickets.

The alleged spies were not found and it is supposed they left the train when the investigation began.

Contractor Is Assaulted by Thieves at His Own Door, but Puts Them to Flight.

Within a few doors of his home, D. H. Wyckoff, a contractor, residing at 2215 Chestnut street, was held up and assaulted about 11:20 o'clock last night by two thugs, who used a lead pipe in felling their intended victim to the ground. Wyckoff resisted his assailants, however, and put them to flight, felling their attempt to steal $400, which he had in his possession at the time. The two robbers have thus far eluded capture, and the clues furnished by the police are slight ones. The last seen of the men was when they escaped in the direction of Emeryville.

Wyckoff left home about eleven o'clock, taking the San Pablo car. He alighted at Thirty-sixth street and started to walk to his home on Chestnut street, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets. The street at this point is very dark and two men stepped out from a hedge and commanded Wyckoff to hold up his hands and turn over his money without resistance.

Wyckoff had hardly recovered from the surprise occasioned by the two men stepping suddenly in front of him when he was struck over the back of the head with a blunt instrument, which might have been a piece of rubber hose, filled with lead. Wyckoff was knocked to the ground, but quickly recovering his senses, rose to his feet and dealt one of his assailants a blow with his fist. The robber sank to the ground and his partner made a rush at Wyckoff and was also felled to the ground by a blow in the face. A struggle ensued, and when the men broke away, the two robbers made their escape, without securing Wyckoff's money.

Wyckoff hurried to his home, intending to get his revolver and chase the robbers. His wife cautioned him, however, and the police were notified. Wyckoff now bears a large bump on his head, where he was struck by the pipe, and his clothes were covered with mud. In telling his story to the police, Wyckoff stated that he recognized one of his assailants as the man who had watched him when he drew the $400 from the bank yesterday. Both robbers, he says, wore masks.

SWABBED OUT THROATS OF 800 SCHOOL CHILDREN

Board of Health Goes to Work in Grant
School on Still Hunt for Diphtheria
Germs.

The prevalence of diphtheria in the Grant school district has led to the filing of many complaints with the board of education and board of health by the parents of pupils attending the Grant school. It was determined by the health authorities that an investigation should be made of the conditions in the infected district, and yesterday afternoon eight hundred pupils of the Grant school were examined.

The investigation was conducted by Dr. Martin Fischer, Dr. Katherine McClurg, Dr. Lemuel Adams, Dr. L. L. Riggan and Dr. A. S. Kelly.

Swabs were taken from the throats of the eight hundred scholars, and these are being diagnosed today. The five physicians will make their report Monday morning, and those children who are found to be infected with diphtheria germs will be kept from attending school until in a normal state again. All the pupils were not examined yesterday, and those who have not will also be barred from attending the school until they have undergone the examination.

The diagnosing of the swabs is being carried on today in the city laboratory, under the direction of City Bacteriologist Nusbaum.

Merry Little Scandal Just Now is Brewing in the College
Town.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—A mystery which would seem to require for its unraveling the brain of a Sherlock Holmes, has been caused by the disappearance of Miss Jessie Busley's "silly little mirrors." Two disappeared, and one has been found—found in the suit case of Ethel Morton, the college girl who played one of the parts in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Coliseum theatre in San Francisco, a few hours before Miss Jessie Busley occupied the same dressing-room for the purpose for the part of Nance Olden. As stated, only one of the mirrors has been found, but it happens that two college girls, Miss Elizabeth McReynolds and Ethel Morton, had the use of Miss Busley's dressing-room on the afternoon a few days ago when the combs became missing.

A TRIBUNE reporter called at the Tel Delta house this afternoon to get a statement from Miss McReynolds, and to find out if by any chance a second comb had been found in her suit case. The caller was told that Miss McReynolds would not be home today—not until night.

When a sorority sister of Miss McReynolds, who answered the door, was questioned as to Miss McReynolds' knowledge of the missing mirrors, she said that she knew nothing about the mirrors, and that Miss McReynolds had not spoken of them. She affected also not to know that Miss Busley had missed her "silly little mirrors," and strange to relate, there was not one girl in all the Delta Delta Delta sorority house who had heard of the incident scandal that had been caused on the campus by the story of the missing property.

Miss Morton, however, was quite willing to be interviewed. She said:

WORTH THIRTY CENTS.
"While looking through my suit case last evening, I found the mirror which had lain on Miss Busley's dressing table on the afternoon that we were preparing for our parts. I immediately wrapped it up and gave it to a gentleman friend of mine to mail to Miss Busley. It was a very trivial article, and certainly not worth stealing. It could not have cost more than thirty cents. I know nothing about the other comb, which Miss Busley speaks of, and as for having any communications with Miss Busley since we played 'The Merry Wives of Windsor,' that is absurd. She has sent me a letter that has not yet arrived at its destination. In fact, I don't see why such a racket should be raised over such a small matter. I cannot speak for Miss McReynolds, but I will say that the mirror got into my suit case entirely by accident, and that I saw nothing of it until last evening."

But that other mirror is not to be found, and Miss Busley says there were two.

"I shall write to the young ladies," said Miss Busley last evening, "and they certainly will return them to me. They just packed them up with their things by mistake. They were such silly little mirrors."

Mrs. Gallard Stoney, who was one of the people interested in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was given (Continued on Page 23.)

Here are the pictures of three girls deep in the mystery of two stolen mirrors. Miss Ethel Morton, a sorority favorite, in whose suit case one of the trinkets was found; Miss Isabelle McReynolds, who was in the dressing room from which the articles were taken; and Miss Jessie Busley, the actress who lost the mirrors and hopes the others will be returned.

DIPLOMAT DEFENDS WIFE ACCUSED BY ROOSEVELT

Storer Publishes Letter Written by the President at the Time of His Dismissal.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The Chicago Tribune in its Washington dispatches today says that an extraordinary letter has been addressed by William Storer to President Roosevelt, and the members of his cabinet in regard to his dismissal from the post of ambassador of the United States to Austro-Hungary.

Mr. Storer was dismissed because of his wife's supposed interference in affairs of the Roman Catholic church, and her alleged misuse of letters from the President. It was also charged that Mrs. Storer had meddled with French politics by taking part in anti-republican intrigue to promote the marriage of Victor Bonaparte with a member of the Orleans family. Both of these charges Mr. Storer denies, and on the other hand declares that the President's interest in the selection of Archbishop Ireland as a cardinal was not due to Storer or to Storer's wife, but the President alone. The text of Mr. Storer's letter was printed and transmitted not only to the President but also to members of the foreign relations committee of the Senate.

Mr. Storer says that his removal in so summary a manner from an office which he had been given reason to believe he had filled to the satisfaction both of his own government and of that to which he was accredited, and being accompanied by no public explanation, it exposed him to suspicions and injurious conjectures such as must naturally come when a man in public office is abruptly dismissed by his government with what is obviously intended to be discredit.

The correspondence shows the family relations of the President and the Storers from the time Mr. Roosevelt was Governor of New York, just after the Spanish-American war. Some of the Roosevelt letters to Storer were addressed "My Dear William," and to his wife, "My Dear Maria," and Mrs. Storer addressed the President as "Dear Theodore."

PRESIDENT INCONSISTENT.
Mr. Storer asserts that Roosevelt himself, while Governor of New York, urged the Storers to use their influence with the Vatican for Ireland's promotion, believing the prelate's well-known patriotism would aid in solving the problems connected with the Catholic church in the Philippines. The later letters of Mr. Roosevelt as president are published evidently to show the inconsistency of his attitude.

One letter of the President to Mrs. Storer, dated December 11, 1896, after the efforts of the Storers in behalf of Archbishop Ireland began to attract attention, contains the following passages:

"Your direct or implied complaint of and reflections upon my own personal conduct give me no concern, but I am very gravely concerned at the mischiefous effect your letters must have in misrepresenting the position of the United States Government and by the far-reaching governmental scandal your indiscretion may at any time cause."

"Your letters not only convey a totally wrong impression of my attitude, but they are such as you have no business whatever to write in view of the position of your husband in the diplomatic service."

The letter of Cardinal Merry del Val to you of November 23 is a rebuke to you, expressing plainly his belief that you have been unwarrantably officious in matters with which you have properly no concern. It should be enough to show you how exceedingly unwise and improper your action in writing to him was."

HE IS INDIGNANT.
"I am indignant that the wife of any ambassador in the United States service should have written such a letter, should have given the impression undoubtedly conveyed in that letter and should have incurred such a rebuke."

"You don't seem to realize that it is out of the question for me knowingly to permit the wife of one of our diplomats to engage in ecclesiastical intrigues to influence the Vatican."

YOUTH BADLY BURNED; FLAMES SUMMON AID; IS SAVED FROM DEATH

Explosion of an Oil Lamp Sets
Fire to Bellboy's Under-Clothing.

A narrow escape from being incinerated alive was the experience of Bert Marin, a young man who now occupies a cot at the County Infirmary, suffering from severe burns he received. Marin has a room in the lodging house at the northwest corner of Clay and Fourteenth streets.

A fire started in his room early this morning, and it is supposed that a lighted lamp in the room set fire to the bed occupied by Marin. The smoke and flames leaped out of the window of the room and attracted the attention of C. F. Leuter of 317 Seventeenth street, and Edward McKenzie of 844 Seventeenth street, who were passing the house at the time. They rushed into the place and up to Marin's room.

They quickly extinguished the fire and rescued Marin from further danger. Marin was severely burned and had to be taken to the receiving hospital for temporary treatment.

Both his arms, face and neck, and the largest part of the body and breast were severely burned from the flames.

Marin came in from the rain last night and put his clothes up to dry before a coal oil lamp at the foot of his bed. While the wet clothes were thus drying, their owner was reading a book. He did not pay much attention at first to the heat at his feet, and it was not until his coverings were aflame, that he realized that he had to fight for life. The flames at the foot of the bed were his first mark, but he was unsuccessful in his attempt to quell the torturing flames. His underclothing soon was aflame, and it was the timely arrival of help that saved the lad from more dangerous burns. He was rolled on the floor until the flames were extinguished.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE TO SAFEGUARD SALARIES

Will Have Constitution Similar to That of the American Federation of Labor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—A permanent organization which will be known as the San Francisco Teachers' Federation was perfected today when forty instructors in the public schools assembled at Plymouth Congregational church.

It is understood that the object of the teachers in organizing is to safeguard their positions and their salaries. The federation will have a constitution similar to that of a Chicago teachers' organization, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Ever since the Board of Education took $150,000 from the salary fund to build and repair schools destroyed or damaged by the great fire, the teachers who suffered in salary have been endeavoring to recover the money. Their efforts culminated in the meeting today, over which Dr. Margaret Mahoney presided.

A report was read by Madison Babcock on the result of the committee's labors in gathering facts about the organization of teachers in New York and Chicago. This report included a letter from Miss Coggins, a Chicago teacher, who described in detail the success of the Chicago Federation.

CONTINUANCE OF HUMAN RACE WILL BE STUDIED

Branch of Eugenic Association Formed in Oakland by Women's League.

A meeting was held in Foresters hall this afternoon which has for its purpose the organization of a branch of the Eugenic Association of this city. The movement is under the direction of the Women's State Business League, of which Miss Fairchild, of Napa, is the president.

The object is to make a careful and scientific study of the propagation of the human race, and the acquiring of means whereby the race can be made more healthful, more intellectual and more successful.

About six weeks ago the Eugenic association was formed in Washington, D. C., and scientists of world renown were present at the time. California sent as her representative David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford University. Other members of the organization are Dr. Alexander Bell, Dr. C. B. Henderson, of the University of Chicago, C. W. Ward of New York, Major Charles Woodruff of the United States army, Dr. W. M. Hayes, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Rev. J. B. Gilbert of Washington.

Dr. W. M. Hayes was the founder of the organization in Washington. The leading spirit of the movement in this state is Mrs. Jennie M. Chamberlain, who for the past eighteen years has been making a very thorough study of (Continued on Page 23.)

RELIEVING THE SITUATION
The demand for offices for business purposes has been so great that any relief of the situation will be very acceptable to the business community of Oakland. The Southern Pacific Company having rented the entire Flood Building in San Francisco and the repairs of the building having made sufficient progress, some departments have been moved and others are moving across the bay.

Since a few weeks subsequent to the fire, the Reliance building at No. 305, San Pablo avenue, a large and commodious office building, has been used by the Southern Pacific Company. The building has been vacated by the removal of the departments recently occupying it and it is now available for the occupancy of other business. It is a very substantial building, the rooms are commodious and the location central and in all respects advantageous.

The only clairvoyant in the world who will give you a written guarantee to teach you how to fascinate any one you desire, how to make your enemies your friends, cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice, give you good luck, remove evil influences, results, the separated, develop medium, settle the old estate that time has placed beyond the lawyer's shrewdness, make you successful in your business and positively give you a written guarantee to complete your business in 30 days.

Reveals everything you wish to know regarding any one or anything, gives advice in securing your desires in Love, Marriage, Business, Separation, Property, Family Troubles, and removes all obstructions that may retard success and happiness. If you have been unsuccessful in gaining your special desires, call on Mansfield. He will remove the burden that oppresses you and tell you just what you may expect regarding any one or anything.

His wonderful clairvoyant powers are almost beyond belief. You will be astonished and mystified at the remarkable things he will tell you concerning yourself and others you are interested in. You enter his parlors with skepticism and prejudice and depart filled with admiration and awe. Ordained to do what he does by some unseen power, whose potent influence is felt by every creature on the face of the earth, whose power is seen in the forces of nature, this wonderful and gifted man demonstrates his power in your presence while you look, listen, and wonder from whence comes this wonderful power. Professional men and women are awe-stricken, the public in general dumfounded speechless. Had he been born in times of superstition his work would be classed as little less than miraculous. Clairvoyance and Palmistry taught.

PERSONAL MAGNETISM DEVELOPED.

Personal magnetism is a powerful secret method that will enable you to control the mind of any one you wish. It can be quickly learned and used by any one without the knowledge of their most intimate friends. It is the key to success, happiness, and wealth. The pathway to position and power. Mansfield tells you how to acquire this power.

E. H. SOUTHERN says: "I find your reading superior to any I ever had. Young Corbett says: 'Your reading of my hands was most satisfactory. Your knowledge and skill in palmistry is remarkable,' and gave me a much more exact idea of that science than I have hitherto entertained. Paul Gilmore, actor, says: 'I want to express to you my keen appreciation of your reading; it is by far the most scientific I have ever had.' Juliet Crosby, actress, says: 'Mansfield has given me a most helpful, complete and satisfactory reading.' Mansfield also reads Admiral Schley, Senator Clark, Gov. Pardee, Gen. Chaffee, Baron Rothschild, Joseph Miller, Louis J. James, Yocco, Sumner, Chiniquet, Creator, Huntington, Susan B. Anthony, Nance O'Neill, Cave, Modjeska, Julia Marlowe, Charles, Serbelli, Gaudin, Jefferson, Edison, Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Lillian Russell, Constance Creevey, Ellen Beach, and hundreds of others. No More Dandruff No More Falling Hair No More Itching Scalp IF YOU USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

AN ARMY OFFICER'S REPORT

"For some time past I have been troubled with dandruff, and with hair falling out. My head itched continually while my hair appeared lustreless and dead. I tried several remedies without any permanent relief and had about reconciled myself to premature baldness. After using a bottle of your Herpicide, I have been greatly benefited. The hair has stopped falling out, and the itching has ceased and no more dandruff forms in the scalp. My hair is coming in thick, and has a fine glossy appearance."

CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY

Oakland Brewing and Malting Company Wants Name for Beer.

The Oakland Brewing and Malting Company is going to give the best suggestion of a name for beer $100 in gold coin. Everybody will be given a chance to make the money.

The rules are simple and to the point and will be found on the last page of THE TRIBUNE today.

The Oakland Brewing and Malting Company will build the largest brewery on the coast at the corner of Twenty-sixth and Linden streets.

They want people to suggest two names for their beer. The person suggesting the two names selected will be paid $100 in gold. The contest is open to everybody.

Names typical to California would be most acceptable. Most beers bear foreign names, but this brewery is patriotic and would like to have some names that would appeal to people of our State.

It is going to be a mighty big institution and will do much for Oakland. Send in your two names to Oakland Brewing and Malting Company, corner Twenty-sixth and Linden, or to the advertising manager of the Oakland TRIBUNE.

SET AT LIBERTY TO BE AGAIN ARRESTED

Knute Stangland, wanted in Chicago for larceny, was released this morning by Police Judge Samuels, but he had no more than left the court room, when he was again taken into custody by Captain of Police Peterson. Judge Samuels ruled in favor of Attorney Richardson's demurrer to the complaint made against Stangland, charging him with being a fugitive from justice. Richardson demurred that the complaint was one of information and belief and not direct knowledge. Captain Peterson has since secured the specific charges against Stangland, however, and rearrested him on the new complaint.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN THE FIESTA PARADE IS GREAT

STUART W. BOOTH, Chairman of the Fiesta Committee.

Merchants All Agree to Decorate Their Stores on Wednesday--A Big Industrial Parade.

Reports of the various committees presented at last night's meeting of the Street Fiesta and Carnival of Progress Committee show that public interest in the fiesta has reached the top-notch of enthusiasm, and that the entire success of the program in every particular is amply guaranteed.

Those present at the meeting were: F. W. Hilger, chairman; Theo. Gier, George W. Austin, Charles F. Ott, Ed. Stein, Guy Smith, C. H. Frost, Charles Newman, F. Zinkand, Charles Hoese, F. A. Leach, W. E. Gibson, Clay Hawcocker, A. H. Clay, W. E. Logan, Paul Carroll.

The committee of street decorations, of which Mr. Zinkand is chairman, reported that the decorations and illuminations of the stores will be very general and liberal. Hundreds of stores have signed an agreement to make special exhibits, and not a single refusal was met with in the entire canvass of the city. Many merchants have stated that they will retain their decorations during the holiday season, and with this end in view they will be more permanent than otherwise.

Chairman Guy Smith, of the music committee, reported that he has engaged seven bands for the parade, and seven bands for the concert afterwards. The following is the location of each band:

Fourteenth and Broadway, Callaghan's band; Thirteenth and Washington, Atkins' band; Twelfth and Broadway, McBal's band; Eleventh and Washington, Scott's band; Tenth and Broadway, Voigt's band; Ninth and Washington, Fiske's band; Eighth and Broadway, McCall's band.

Chairman Stearns of the parade committee, who is also grand marshal of the parade, reported that it would be impossible to be too enthusiastic over the prospects of a great industrial exhibit. The responses to put in floats, autos, turnouts, etc., are coming in very rapidly, and show that a great deal of effort is being expended on this branch of the fiesta. There is much good natured rivalry between those taking part in the parade, and in this connection the committee received communication from Charles Newman, of the College Inn, offering $100 in prizes for the three best floats. The committee accepted Mr. Newman's offer with thanks.

On the evening of the parade the California Assessors' Association will be holding its annual session in this city, and arrangements have been made for the visitors to view the parade from the band stand of the Oakland Bank of Savings at Twelfth and Broadway. It was suggested that as the parade passes this spot, those in line will make a special demonstration in honor of the visitors.

Chief Marshal Stearns reported that there would be a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce this evening of men who ride horses, for the purpose of forming a cavalcade of riders, and also to select a chief of staff and aides. Chief Marshal suggested that it might be possible to have a special division of lady riders and George W. Austin was delegated to see if this could be brought about, and to report at Monday night's meeting.

On account of the street committee reported that the contracts were all let for seven band stands, fifteen red fire stands and for all the available red fire in the market. The board of works has granted a permit to the committee to erect these stands, subject to the supervision of the street department wherever the committee may desire. Mr. Ott also reported that the chief of police had given instructions that all teams will be kept away from Broadway, Washington and all the intersecting streets between the hours of 8 and 11 next Wednesday night excepting those taking part in the parade.

A communication was received from the Century electric company, stating that it would agree to furnish all the electric lights in streamers, or any other manner, furnish all material and labor for installing and removing all lights for six cents a light. The committee recommended that everybody who can should use as many lights as possible, and reports from many electric companies showed that they were deluged with orders for next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Watson exhibited a very fine decorated piece which met with the approval of the committee, and is on exhibition at the Chamber of Commerce.

On account of the magnitude of the celebration, which is altogether beyond what was originally proposed, the finance committee wanted it to be especially known that, as the time is short, it will not be possible to call on everybody and the newspapers were requested to give full publicity to this fact, and to ask that remittances be sent at once to Theo. Gier, at the office of the secretary, 245 Bacon block.

The invitation to the mayor, board of works and city council has been accepted, and these honorable bodies will review the parade from the front of the city hall.

The entire details of the parade are settled and arrangements are all progressing most favorably. On account of the rain, it is now regarded as certain that Wednesday evening will be a fine night.

The following assignment of bands to position in the parade Wednesday evening and for concert work immediately after the close of the parade will be as follows:

Callaghan, first division, Fourteenth and Broadway.

Atkins, second division, Thirteenth and Washington.

Voigt, third division, Tenth and Broadway.

McBal's, fourth division, Twelfth and Broadway.

Scott's, fifth division, Eleventh and Washington.

McCall's, sixth division, Eighth and Broadway.

Fiske's, seventh division, Ninth and Washington.

All bands will report to chiefs of the respective divisions to which they are assigned at 7:45 p. m. sharp.

All bands will play while passing the reviewing stand at City Hall.

Immediately upon the disbanding of the procession each band will take position at its concert stand and commence playing immediately.

On the counter march on Broadway, bands on the east side of Broadway will cease playing on passing bands on the west side of Broadway, if the latter are playing.

Very respectfully,
EDWIN STEARNS, Chief Marshal.
GUY C. SMITH, Chairman Music Committee.

BEATEN UNTIL UNCONSCIOUS

Daughter of San Francisco Clubman is Assaulted and Robbed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Edith Hoefler, daughter of Attorney Louis Hoefler, the popular club man and former partner of the late Thomas Bishop, was beaten by a robber at her home, 130 Haight street, about four o'clock yesterday morning. After rendering the girl unconscious by three hard blows on the head with a leather stungshot, the thief made off with presents and jewelry to the value of $250 which the girl had just received in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

The girl was awakened by the noise made by the thief ransacking the bureau drawers in her room. The robber warned her to make no outcry, and to emphasize his warning, he struck her once on the head. The girl now fully realizing her position, screamed as loudly as she could, and the thief struck her twice more, when she was made senseless. Her screams were not heard by the other members of the family, and the thief quickly gathered his booty and fled.

After a few moments Miss Hoefler regained consciousness and hearing a noise on the stairs, she jumped from her bed and ran into the hall. She ran to the room occupied by her cousin, John Hoefler, and in disoriented sentences told him what had occurred. He immediately gave the alarm, but the burglar, who had ransacked the entire house, made his escape by the front door. A rear door near the room occupied by the housemaid was found open, explaining the thief's manner of entrance.

The police were immediately notified, but as yet they have found no clue to the robber.

SECRETARY METCALF MAKES REPORT ON IMMIGRATION

An Exhaustive and Masterly Exposition of the Various Phases of the Question.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The report of Victor H. Metcalf, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, was made public today. Relative to Immigration and Chinese exclusion, Secretary Metcalf says in his report:

"During the year ended June 30, 1909, there applied for admission at ports of the United States 1,173,785 aliens, 12,432 of whom were refused admission for causes which will appear in detail. Of those admitted, 1,100,785 were new arrivals and 65,618 returned to this country after a temporary absence or were reported as aliens in transit, or tourists. This total of 1,173,785 represents an excess over the arrivals for the next preceding year of 152,288.

"It is interesting to note the sources from which this large immigration comes. It has followed somewhat along the lines of increase during recent years, which has been derived principally from southern and eastern Europe. To the total of 1,100,785 aliens admitted to the United States during the past fiscal year, various countries have contributed, approximately, 69 per cent. Thus, Russia furnished 215,666, Austria-Hungary 265,138, and Italy (including Sicily and Sardinia) 273,120. Those composing the remaining 31 per cent were distributed among the various other foreign countries, ranging from 49,491 from England to 51 from the Pacific Islands.

"Notwithstanding the large number from Italy and Russia shown last year, the increase from these two countries for the year under consideration was 51,641 and 20,788 respectively. On the other hand, those countries whose people are more nearly allied in race and social standards to the people of the United States have furnished fewer immigrants. Thus during the year 1909, as compared with the next preceding year, the number of aliens applying for admission from Ireland decreased 17,750; England, 15,218; Sweden, 3,281; Germany, 3,010; Denmark, 1,229, and Scotland, 1,111.

"There were excluded from admission during the year a total of 12,432 aliens. The principal grounds of exclusion and the numbers, respectively, were: Paupers, 7,069; contract laborers, 2,314; diseased aliens, 2,273; insane persons and idiots, 231; convicts, 205; and the remaining 340, including 105 Chinese, were rejected for minor causes. "The significant feature of this statement is that, notwithstanding the penal provisions of the law in regard to bringing diseased aliens to ports of the United States and the responsibility of the return of all inadmissible aliens, the steamship companies engaged in this business have brought a large number of those who manifestly could not be permitted to land. The natural and logical suggestion of the Commissioner-General of Immigration is that more severe penalties should be imposed, or that a medical inspection should be made at the foreign ports of embarkation. It is not inconsistent with a measure of good faith on the part of such carriers that in the enormous number of those seeking transportation to the United States some, who are obviously not sound of mind and body, should succeed in escaping observation. The more efficacious means of preventing violations of the law, especially with reference to the diseased classes, would be the location of medical officers at foreign ports for the purpose of making examination in advance of the purchase by aliens of their transportation as recommended a year ago.

"For the above reasons, as well as for those stated in my last annual report, I again desire to urge upon Congress the importance of making provision for an inspection both by physicians and immigration inspectors at foreign ports of embarkation. It is an important result in the way of preventing the embarkation of inadmissible aliens, as well as in avoiding the distressing incidents connected with the deportation of persons who have been admitted and then found to be inadmissible upon re-examination.

"In addition to the number excluded from admission, there have been arrested and expelled from the United States 676 aliens who were shown to be inadmissible in accordance with the principle of due process of law, to have unlawfully gained admission during previous years.

"As stated in my last annual report, the enormous immigration of the past few years has suggested the advisability of adopting more adequate means of restricting the number in order to lessen the risk involved by such large and growing additions to our alien population. Among the suggestions of suitable means to accomplish this purpose the one mentioned a year ago appears to be the most effective. It was then stated that if the number of aliens brought on an vessel so limited as to bear a fixed ratio to the tonnage of each vessel, by making the ratio sufficiently large, not only will there be an actual diminution in the total of arrivals, but many of the incidents of suffering and distress attendant upon steerage travel can be obviated.

"There are other recommendations made in the annual report of the Commissioner-General of Immigration based upon experience during the past year, as well as during prior years, to which attention is invited.

"CHINESE EXCLUSION. "A marked improvement as compared with the conditions existing in previous years has been apparent as the result of efforts made to exclude laborers from admission to the United States. This is due to the steps taken to secure such an effective view of the certificates of the members of the exempt classes as would prevent laborers from impersonating those who are entitled under the laws to treatment as aliens.

"With respect to the classes of applicants, it appears that there has been a large increase in those claiming to be natives of the United States and of a professed minor children of domiciled merchants, while a considerable reduction has been noted in the numbers of returning laborers and merchants. The total number of the exempt classes who sought admission is less than one-half the number of such classes who applied for the same privilege during the year 1905.

"Chinese of the exempt classes seeking admission for the first time numbered 328, a large proportion of whom (135) were officials. Of the total number mentioned, nineteen were deported, not in every instance, however, because fraud was shown, but owing to the fact that in a number of cases the applicants, under section 1985 were found to be afflicted with a dangerous contagious disease. As to domiciled merchants, 143 were admitted after making temporary visits abroad, and fourteen were rejected because it was found upon investigation that they were laborers endeavoring to pose as merchants formerly resident in this country. Favorable action was taken upon all but sixteen of the cases of laborers returning to resume residence in this country; and 911 persons of the Chinese race were permitted to enter on the claim that they were American citizens. Of those who crossed the Mexican or Canadian borders, very few having been arrested in the interior of the United States upon the charge of unlawful entry.

"A number of recommendations have been made by the Commissioner-General for the purpose of securing an efficient administration of the Chinese exclusion laws, and removing, as far as practicable, such hardships as have occasioned complaint both on the part of the Chinese and of those who are interested in extending to Chinese aliens every consideration not inconsistent with the fixed policy of excluding the laboring classes from this country. Among these recommendations it is urged that Congress remove all restrictions upon the return of registered laborers, except the identification of such laborers at the time of their application for readmission. The reasons in detail for this recommendation were stated in my last annual report, and have lost none of their force in the one that has since followed.

"I repeat my recommendation of last year that inspection officers should be stationed in China to conduct the investigations there in lieu of the recommendation to issue section six certificates, should perform such duty."

In Praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
There is no other medicine manufactured that has received so much praise and so many expressions of gratitude as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is estimated that it has cured more than 10,000,000 people. It is a certain cure for cough, croup, whooping cough, and all other lung troubles. It is especially adapted to children as it is pleasant to take and contains nothing injurious. Mr. E. A. Humphreys, a well-known resident and clerk in the store of Mr. W. L. Lock, at 1000 Broadway, San Francisco, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to ward off croup and colds in my family. I found it to be very satisfactory and it gives me pleasure to recommend it." For sale by Ogden Brothers, Broadway, corner of Seventh and Washington, corner of Twelfth.

TROUBLES OF MARRIED LIFE

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

A WORTHY ENTERPRISE.

Efforts are being made in Alameda by the Daughters of the King and others to arouse an interest in the Lion Memorial Home, an organization that, in the few months of its existence, has done an immense amount of good in an unobtrusive way. The help and guidance of respectable, deserving women who are out of work are the principal objects of the Home, but it does not balk at any opportunity to lend a helping hand. The direction of the Home had been in the hands of a committee for several months past, but it has again reverted to the Daughters of the King, the original sponsors. An active interest is also taken by Rev. W. N. Guthrie, the Episcopal minister of Alameda, who in September of last year circulated a subscription paper and secured a guarantee of enough money to make monthly payments on a house that is being purchased and is now being used as headquarters. This house, located at 1250 Park street, has sheltered many friendless women, most of whom have secured work through the good offices of Miss Harrison, who is in charge. The organization is named after Rev. Edgar Jacob Lion, who founded St. Stephens church in this city, and who for thirty years was its rector. However, the Home is not in any way sectarian. Its great need at present is a larger list of patrons in order that the payments on the house may be kept up and something left for working expenses. At the membership price, a dollar a month, there should be no difficulty about this. A Woman's Exchange adjunct, where articles manufactured by working women may be sold, is also planned. Another project is the erection of a club room which will be a meeting place for girls in domestic service. A whist tournament will be held at the Unitarian Church club rooms on the night of December 4 by which it is hoped to add materially to the fund. Anyone who wants to assist a charitable organization of the best character can do so effectively by taking a membership, which can be secured through Rev. W. N. Guthrie, Mrs. Oscar Thieme, the secretary, or Miss Harrison, who is in charge at headquarters.—Town Talk.

SOCIETY BUD BECOMES A NUN.

Ada Sullivan, second daughter of the Frank J. Sullivan and niece of Mr. James D. Phelan, is not to be among the debutantes of local society. The cloistered life holds charms for her of which society is utterly devoid and she has resolved to consecrate herself to the service of God in the role of a Carmelite nun. Indeed she has already renounced the gayeties of this world and I believe that she is now behind convent walls, for she went East with her mother a few weeks ago to become a postulant of the Carmelite order. There is a Carmelite convent in Boston, and as Miss Sullivan's aunt, Mrs. White, sister-in-law of the Rev. Father White, is a resident of that city, it is there, in all probability that she will begin her novitiate. All the Sullivans, by the way, are very devout Catholics, and they have several ecclesiastical connections. Father Kenna, of Santa Clara College, is a relative by marriage of the young lady who is about to become a nun.—Town Talk.

PRAISE FOR MARY AUSTIN.

William Archer, one of the best known of London literary critics, recently devoted a whole column of the Morning Leader to praise of the classic English of Mary Austin. The tribute is well deserved. Mrs. Austin is one of the least self-seeking of writers. Her books come at long intervals, but discriminating readers watch for them as they do for rare wild flowers. As yet there have been but four, and one of them the finest interpretation of the romantic life of California before the American settlers drove out the natives that has yet appeared, and it will be long till there will be another to place beside it. Mrs. Austin's latest work, "The Flock," is a sympathetic exposition of the life of the shepherd in California, a history of the wool and sheep industry from the introduction of the flocks until the present time. In collaboration with Elmer Harris she has written a play, "The Coyote Doctor," which may have a first appearance in London. It is said to be as far out of the beaten track of the ordinary playwright as her books are different from those of other writers.—Town Talk.

A MUCH REJECTED STATESMAN.

Now that Miss Ide is the wife of the Tammany statesman there is talk, I am told, of organizing a society of Daughters Who Have Rejected Bourke Cockran's Attentions. It is said that Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg is eligible to the presidency, Mrs. Clarence Mackay would have no serious rival for the vice-presidency and more than a dozen members of the Newport hunting set might qualify for the governing board. For Mr. Cockran, be it known, has been a great beau from New York to California, from Honolulu to the Philippines, and every time he was rejected his friends reported that he was thinking of entering the priesthood.—Town Talk.

CARUSO'S VINDICATION.

New York's verdict in the Caruso case was given when the great tenor received an ovation at the conclusion of his duet with Mimi in the first act of La Boheme. Thunders of applause reversed the judgment of the court which sentenced the singer to pay a fine for unseemly behavior in the Monkey House of the New York zoo. He now feels that his honor has been vindicated, the popular approval being infinitely more to him than the censure of a magistrate. One means thousands, the other just ten dollars or ten days. Whether the operatic star is guilty or innocent of the offense charged matters nothing to the cultured music lovers of this country. They do not permit their knowledge of the private life of an artist to abate their appreciation of his genius. For art has become once more an object of worship as it was in Athens, though not universally; and as it was in the Renaissance when Beauty emerged from her medieval tomb. If Benvenuto Cellini could be absolved of a murder on the ground that men of his genius were above the law, surely we can forgive a Caruso for carrying his flirtations into a zoo.—Town Talk.

FATHER YORKE'S BOMB.

When the "Leader" espoused the cause of Schmitz and Ruef there was much uneasiness among the leaders of the movement for the redemption of the city and the punishment of the Associated Grafters. In newspaper circles this uneasiness was most pronounced, for among newspapermen it is understood that Father Peter C. Yorke is the editor of the "Leader." And Father Peter C. Yorke is believed to have great influence with the plain people, especially those of the Catholic Church and Organized Labor. Those plain people constitute such a large element of this community that it has been deemed important to persuade them that it is their duty as honest citizens to give to the prosecution the benefit of their sympathy and moral support. Public sentiment has been an important factor in the anti-graft movement. Even the looters have not been insensible of the fact and hence their desperate efforts to create the impression that the animus of the prosecution was enmity to the labor unions. They felt that judges might be intimidated and grand and petty jurors defeated from their duty if alarm could be spread among the unions by instilling into them the notion that the scheme to compass the downfall of Schmitz was a conspiracy devised by capital to destroy the labor trust. So when the "Leader" denounced the graft prosecution as a conspiracy against labor and charged that justice was being perverted for the furtherance of evil designs there was rejoicing among the looters and indignation and uneasiness among the self-constituted redeemers of the city.

WHEN YORKE WENT TO OAKLAND.

By all of which I am reminded that the distance between this city and darkest Oakland is not too great to prevent Father Yorke from being heard when he raises his voice in the wilderness. This observation I make because I recall that when Father Yorke was given a parish in Oakland there were some leading citizens of San Francisco who snickered audibly. They thought it a good joke that Archbishop Riordan should have contrived to put an end to the political activities of Father Yorke by ostensibly rewarding his talents. Among those leading citizens were several pillars of the Catholic church, who pretended to know something of ecclesiastical policies. They hinted vaguely that there had been friction between Archbishop Riordan and Father Yorke. They said that Father Yorke was so influential among the plain people of the church that it was not advisable to discipline him in a way that might excite sympathy, and therefore the Archbishop shrewdly raised him to the dignity of a pastorate in Oakland where he would be practically dead to the world. I have no authentic information on the subject of the evolution of Father Yorke in the priesthood, but I am quite sure that he greatly disappointed certain leading citizens who snickered when he was assigned to Oakland for clerical duty. They thought that across the bay he would cease from troubling, sink into obscurity and become a silent member of the Down and Out Club. But he appears to have lost none of his interest in the affairs of this city. While looking after the spiritual welfare of the immortal parts of the benighted of Oakland he endeavors to minister to the material wants of the misguided of San Francisco.

HIS MILD REPUDIATION.

Those same leading citizens whom Father Yorke disappointed after his removal to Oakland have learned more than once that it is unwise to accept as authentic information which has come to them respecting the Archbishop's sentiments on the subject of the priest's activities. Even the gossip of the priesthood is not always to be relied upon. The drippings of the inner council of the Catholic Church are exceedingly meagre. The Archbishop's views in matters pertaining to church discipline are not bulletined in the cathedral. The Archbishop has so schooled himself in repression that when a priest gets on his nerves he betrays not the slightest emotion. But then the power of the Archbishop is not so great as is currently believed. The secular priest does not take the vows that are exacted from the candidate for admission to a monastic order. He is not subject to the whims of his archbishop. He has certain clerical duties which he must perform, but he does not surrender his personal liberty. His political principles have no connection with his religious creed. Frequently has the press sought to counteract the influence of Father Yorke with a pronouncement from the Executive of the diocese, but the result has seldom been satisfactory. The latest effort to be made in that direction was the interview with Bishop Montgomery on the subject of the "Leader's" status in the church. It has long been rumored that the "Leader" was started by Father Yorke in opposition to the "Monitor," the official organ of the church, and Bishop Montgomery was expected to repudiate the paper in very strong language. But he didn't. He merely asserted that it was not the official organ of the church, a fact that is known to every communicant of the church in California. The "Leader" has never pretended to be a church organ. But Bishop Montgomery also asserted that he did not know the editor of the paper. This assertion must have astonished many thousands of Catholics and many priests among them, for it was as popularly believed that Father Yorke was the editor of the paper as that Bishop Montgomery is the assistant to Archbishop Riordan.—Town Talk.

HELEN WILDER'S ROMANCE.

Writes my Hawaiian correspondent: "Like the scent of pressed roses recalling an old romance was the suit in court last week for the cancellation of a trust deed conveying to E. D. Tenney the property valued at something over $100,000. The deed was executed in 1897 by Miss Helen Wilder and was made in contemplation of marriage to Frank Unger of San Francisco, to whom she was then engaged. The engagement was soon afterwards broken off, and Miss Wilder a couple of years later married Horace J. Craft, from whom she was afterwards divorced, though I understand they are still very good friends. Unger was quite a prominent figure in society on the coast in those days. He had traveled extensively, he had a pleasing musical skill, could tell good stories, and was altogether companionable. Incidentally he had furnished two or three of the musical selections in the "Geisha Girl," which was then in the height of its success. Helen Wilder was the daughter of the late S. G. Wilder and granddaughter of Dr. Norman Judd, one of the early missionaries. Her father died, leaving a very comfortable fortune as fortunes were counted those days, the days before some of the sugar barons began paying taxes on incomes of a million yearly. Helen was an athletic girl who rode and drove the best horses in Honolulu. It was her fondness for horses that led her to start a movement, the first in Honolulu, for the prevention of cruelty to animals. When she found that the native police showed neither enthusiasm or judgment in the matter of making arrests, she secured a commission as a special policeman herself, and spent her time, or a good part of it for several years, in looking after animals that were being cruelly treated. The work she did in this line was of the most wholesome and effective sort, and its influence lasts to this day."

THEY SUSPECTED UNGER.

"When she was on the witness stand the other day giving testimony in behalf of her petition for the revocation and cancellation of her deed of trust, she very frankly explained the reasons why it was made. She said that her family believed that Frank Unger's affection for her was inspired largely by her wealth and yielding to their advice she had made the deed whereby only the income of the property was reserved for herself, the principal to go to any children she might have. Or, if she died childless to be disposed of by will. The engagement was broken off soon after the deed was made, and she never married Unger, the consideration for the deed had failed and she therefore wanted it cancelled, so that she would again have the direct control of her property. After her divorce from Horace J. Craft she resumed her maiden name, went to California and bought a ranch near Watsonville. There she has lived ever since."—Town Talk.

HE HAS FEARS.

Walter G. Manuel, the well-known commission merchant and enthusiastic automobilist of Oakland, has secretly informed his most intimate friends that he is afraid that something dreadful is about to happen to him. Not that he has been marked as a victim of murderous thugs of the Orient; neither has he received any threatening communication signed by the relentless "Black Hand." And yet he nervously awaits the coming of the hour when his fears shall have been justified. He says that he knows he is "in for it," as the saying goes, and having uttered the words, he becomes as silent as the frozen fields of the Far North. He has reason to be apprehensive, if the story which is being whispered around several of the exclusive clubs across the bay is true.

Dr. Henry Fine, known among his friends as "Mike" Fine, has a new automobile. A few days ago he decided to take a spin through Trestle Glen. While skimming along the oakshaded speedway, he chanced to meet his friend Manuel, who, with his wife and a small party, was also enjoying an outing. Both brought their machines to a stand-still, and Manuel got out to inspect the physician's new runabout. A few moments later he climbed back into his own car and started to ride away, when Fine called to him that something was wrong with the new auto's engine—it would not run. A number of attempts to start the machine proved failures—nothing could be done, and so Manuel took the doctor's car in tow.

Now, under ordinary circumstances, the man of medicine would have felt that he was forever indebted to his friend for the latter's assistance, and such was the physician's view of the situation until the following day, when an examination of the air inlet of the engine disclosed the fact that some one had filled it with putty. In that moment, a strong light of revelation broke upon "Mike" Fine. He had been "jobbed," but by whom? His eyes were opened—the gleam—Manuel—the tow back to the city! "Ah, revenge is sweet," declares the physician, "but I'll have it. Beware, Walter Manuel, beware!"—News Letter.

ELIGIBLE YOUNG MAN.

Claus Spreckels Jr. is the younger son of John D. Spreckels, and he is one of the few unmarried multimillionaires in town for the mammas to take up. He is a good looking boy and infatuated with automobiling. He even runs his machine for hire and takes tips just like the most professional of chauffeurs. He was educated at Belmont. Spreckels is by no means the only millionaire who makes money out of his mad for automobiling. Young Mr. Spreckels can take a machine apart, and almost make one if necessary.—Wasp.

TRAGIC ROMANCE.

A tragic ending to a vivid romance and a remarkable young life was the death of Mrs. Genevieve Dowsett Dunbar in Belvedere last week. Society has been shocked and saddened by the news of the fair girl-wife's sudden ending. Romance enough to fill out a lengthy novel has been crowded into the twenty-two years of Genevieve Dowsett's young life. Born in Hawaii with just enough of the native strain in her to add a languor to her dark beauty, and a fire to her splendid black eyes, the girl was a belle and an acknowledged favorite from her childhood. Her family had a fine position in the islands and after one of the daughters married one of the wealthy Parkers, society was at the Dowsett's feet. This daughter, Launakeia, for she is called by her intimates by her Hawaiian name, is now Mrs. Fred Knight. She was left a rich widow with one child, a dark-skinned little girl, and married the popular native son, whose father, George Knight, the famous orator of California, and a leading lawyer. Young Mr. Knight possesses a splendid voice and could make a name for himself as a singer.

After Mrs. Knight came to live in San Francisco her sister Genevieve spent much of her time here and was a recognized belle. Last summer she made one of a camping party to Mendocino county, and was lounging in the woods one day when a call for help roused her. Rushing to the brink of a deep stream near by she saw a young man struggling for life in the swirling waters. A splendid swimmer, lithe and powerful, the young girl without a thought of her personal safety, plunged into the river and rescued the drowning man. That man was Prentiss Gray, and in the acquaintance begun so romantically, love blossomed and soon the pair announced their betrothal. The wedding day was set, when to the intense surprise of society in Oakland and San Francisco Mr. Gray broke the engagement. His family had opposed the match on account of the youth of the would-be bridegroom and he finally yielded to their persuasions. The newspapers made a great to-do over the affair and Miss Dowsett was quoted as saying that when she "married, it would be to a man and not a cad." That was in August of this year. The day after this denouement and while the gossips' tongues were still wagging, Miss Dowsett and Stuart Dunbar, only son of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Dunbar, members of San Francisco's four hundred, skipped off to Stockton and were married. The day following this unexpected wedding, the bride left, as she had planned weeks before, for her home in Honolulu. She sailed on the "Manchuria" and was wrecked off the coast of Oahu. Some months later young Mrs. Dunbar remained in the islands and then she returned arriving in Belvedere some three weeks ago. She and her young husband lived quietly and domestically at the Dunbar home in Belvedere, where she died last week from pneumonia. In helping her husband to moor his yacht during the fierce northern gale which swept the bay, Mrs. Dunbar fell overboard and thus contracted the cold which ended her extraordinary life. She had for some years, it seems, been a sufferer from heart disease, and for that reason succumbed to the attack of pneumonia. She lapsed quickly into unconsciousness and passed away as quietly as a little child entering the land of gentle dreams. The young bridegroom is utterly crushed and the friends of the ill-fated bride are broken hearted.—Town Talk.

THE ANTI-GRAFT CRUSADE.

Mayor Schmitz returned from Europe last week and was met at the state line by a deputy sheriff with a warrant for his arrest. He had been indicted by the grand jury with Abraham Ruef, on the charge of "extortion," both the accused being charged with having obtained money from the French restaurant keepers of San Francisco under the threat of depriving them of their licenses. The mayor was naturally much chagrined and apparently much surprised when the news met him at New York. He declared in strong language his entire innocence, and stated that he would return to San Francisco without the loss of a single day to face his accusers. This he did. An impromptu reception of his friends and admirers was hastily arranged. But the train was many hours late, and did not arrive in San Francisco until long past midnight. Even at that late hour he found assembled a crowd of several thousand in a hall awaiting his arrival. To them he made a grateful speech, thanking them for their confidence in him and assuring them that it was not misplaced. Speeches had been made before his arrival by several orators, some of whom bitterly attacked the leaders in the present graft crusade, and the editors of the daily papers. These journals have now for a number of weeks been filling whole pages with all manner of accusations against the mayor, the supervisors, and the members of the various municipal boards. But these charges have not seemed to materialize. About the only concrete charges so far are those of extortion against the mayor and his friend, Ruef. People generally do not believe that the mayor is guilty on this charge, and most of them seem to think that Ruef is justified in accepting money under those conditions at "attorney's fees." This belief speaks volumes for the estimate placed on the legal profession by the people of San Francisco. Another indictment is that against Supervisor Nicholas of accepting $25.05 as a bribe from a furniture house. Chief of Police Dinan has been indicted for conniving at the existence of houses of prostitution. This would seem to be the extent so far of the indictments preferred against municipal officers. It can not be gainsaid that the tone of the public has notably changed in this matter during the past two weeks. At first the people were inclined to believe the sweeping charges made by the daily newspapers, that all of the municipal officials were grafters. But now, in view of the failure of the dailies to "make good," the people are expressing cynical disbelief, not only in the truth of these charges, but in the motives of those who make them.—Argonaut.

The President Makes Good Points. Auditor Breed's Retirement.

The Stockton Mail says the feeling aroused by what the President had to say regarding the Japanese question has obscured the many good points of the message. That is true. The message is a meaty one. It shows that the President has relaxed none of his determination to make the trusts obey the law. His reference to the necessity for a uniform divorce law also shows that he has given thoughtful study to a question of vital import to the American people. Nobody can read the message through without being impressed with the fact that the President is devoted to the cause of good government, clean morals and fair play. He is wrong on the Japanese proposition, but he is right on so many other things that an indulgent view must be taken of his mistake. However, it is best that he should be made acquainted at once with the temper and attitude of the Pacific States in regard to a matter that touches them more nearly than it does the people of any other section and which they look upon as involving their self-preservation as a Caucasian community. A square understanding at the start will conduce to mutual respect, and will, moreover, assist in bringing about a satisfactory entente.

Apparently the people of Berkeley take a very unreasonable view of the Oakland Traction Company's application for new franchises. They seem to think the company should consult the convenience of the public whose favors it seeks. This is a grave mistake. The Traction Company has no interest in the public, it never takes any account of the public till it desires franchises or other favors which can be turned to the profit of the company's promoters. The people of Berkeley are mistaken in thinking the Traction people are partial to Oakland. They are not partial to anybody but to themselves, and they only give a good service where their special interests render it advisable. For the rest, they take all they can get and give as little as possible in return. An example of this is afforded by their contemptuous refusal to pave and keep in repair the streets between and alongside their tracks, as they are obliged to do by the terms of their franchise. Our Berkeley friends are not the only ones who get kicked in the face, only they are more disposed to raise a row about it.

John A. McIlhenny, the new Civil Service Commissioner, is a former Rough Rider, a Louisianian, a Democrat, and a manufacturer of tabasco sauce. He must be pretty hot stuff.

A Southern View of Tillman.

The Charleston News and Courier, the leading Democratic journal of South Carolina, evidently does not sympathize with Senator Tillman's rabid anti-negro talk. Commenting on an editorial in the Washington Post, the News and Courier says:

"Our Washington friend takes Mr. Tillman too seriously, perhaps, in what he says about resorting to the shotgun. As a matter of fact, Mr. Tillman has not killed a negro for a great many years, if he ever killed one. He is awfully fierce and bloodthirsty in speech and he has done the State which he represents and the South incalculable injury by his intemperate talk, but he has been encouraged in all his efforts to discuss the race question in his own peculiar way by the crowded audiences North and West who have flocked to hear him."

Down South no audience would pay to hear Tillman lambaste the colored people. He can only turn that sort of guff into coin in the Northern States. If the negroes would take no notice of Tillman but let him shoot his bazoo unmolested, people would soon grow very tired of it. By trying to stop him from talking they only swell his audiences.

In a burst of flatulent boasting the Los Angeles Herald says Los Angeles is the largest city and the commercial metropolis of the Pacific Coast. During the year ending June 30, 1906, the customs district of San Francisco exported goods to the value of $39,915,269, while Los Angeles exported goods to the value of $12,581. During the same period the imports of San Francisco totaled $44,433,271, as against $827,059 for Los Angeles. These figures show the emptiness of the claim that Los Angeles is a metropolis. It can hardly be classed as a maritime city, since San Pedro is little more than a lumber landing.

A "Frat's" View of "Frats."

We have before us a communication signed "Frat Member and Student of O. H. S." It is, of course, a defense of "frat" societies. As it is unaccompanied by the name of the writer and speaks of Mr. Pond, principal of Oakland High School, and Mr. James, principal of Berkeley High School, in disrespectful terms, it is not published in full, nevertheless, we reproduce this paragraph to show the character of the defense set up:

"The members of 'frats' do not try to cause class distinction and sociate with many pupils of high school who are 'non-frats.' The old saying is that 'birds of feather flock together,' and so they do in high school as elsewhere. There is always a distinction between the good and bad, ambitious and indifferent, weak and strong, the energetic and the lazy. 'Frats' always endeavor to take in boys or girls of good character, without prejudice as to race or religion. Of course, mistakes may be made occasionally, and then there are many who prefer to go their way only and unaided."

Our young friend would do well to mend his English as well as his logic. He first denies a proposition and then admits it by saying "birds of a feather flock together." His statement that 'frat' societies do not foster class distinctions is simply casting an assertion in the teeth of self-evident fact. The spirit of caste is the inspiration of 'frat' societies, which are organized as a basis of class distinction and for nothing else. Without this motive they could not exist. It is true that "frats" do associate with "non-frats," but they do this for the same reason that people often go outside their own social circle to seek congenial associates.

The statement that neither race nor religion cuts a figure in eligibility for membership in the "frat" societies is absurdly untrue. Wealth and social prominence are, of course, the leading requisites, but race and religious prejudice is often a deciding factor. Mr. Pond, who was a "frat" at High School and also at college, understands this very well. His experience, both as a student and a teacher, gives him a knowledge of the subject that none can gainsay. The author of the communication does not gainsay it, but he attempts to controvert Mr. Pond's conclusion by assailing his veracity and sincerity. Which only goes to show that while our young correspondent is improving his English he can profitably take a few lessons in courtesy and good manners.

Finding the pressure of his private business so great that he cannot attend to it properly and give the necessary attention to the duties of his office, Arthur H. Breed has announced that he will not again be a candidate for City Auditor. Thus actuated by a sense of public duty, he retires gracefully from the political field in time to give the electors ample time to look around and settle upon the right man to succeed him in the responsible office he has filled so creditably. Mr. Breed has made a good official. His course has met with public approval, and he will retire from office with the confidence, esteem and good will of his fellow-citizens.

Mr. Breed's successor should be a man of probity, experienced in public affairs, who will keep a watchful eye on the city's interests. Among the names of several good men suggested for the Auditor's office appears that of Edwin Meese, Councilman-at-Large. Without prejudice to others, it can be truthfully stated that Mr. Meese is a man entirely worthy of public confidence. He is square and fair, and has served the city faithfully in the Council. As chairman of the Finance Committee Mr. Meese has endeavored to promote economy and confine municipal expenditures within their proper limit. At the same time, he has manifested a progressive spirit. He is in sympathy with the plans for improving the city that the Council now has under consideration. He is thoroughly informed in regard to the financial affairs of the municipality, and is fully conversant with the needs of the public service.

Should Mr. Meese be elected Auditor, the voters can rest assured that he will fill the office honestly and capably. His character and past public services will doubtless commend him to the favorable attention of the Republican municipal convention.

As soon as he reached home President Wheeler issued a formal statement denying that he advised the President to incorporate in his message that remarkable chapter respecting the Japanese and the public schools of California. Why did Dr. Wheeler deem it necessary to deny responsibility for an official utterance of the President of the United States? Nobody had accused him in this connection. He is not Theodore Roosevelt's keeper. Why, then, did he rush forward with a disclaimer exculpating himself? Either he has done something for which he would like to evade responsibility or is doing a gratuitous self-advertising stunt.

A Good Rule Established.

The City Council did wisely in incorporating in the franchise granted the Southern Pacific for a belt line along the harbor front a provision allowing the cars of all railroads to be run upon the line without discrimination. The franchise of the Union Belt Line contains a similar provision. Thus the cars of every railroad entering Oakland or will hereafter enter it are given egress and ingress to the harbor front. This is of vital importance to the city's commercial future, and will be more highly appreciated hereafter than at present.

Moreover, the Council has laid down a rule that should never be deviated from in the future. Every franchise granted by the city for a belt line or spur track along the water front should require such tracks to be open to the use of all cars. No railroad should be given an exclusive franchise for spur or belt lines within the city limits—that is, no transportation corporation should be permitted to bottle up any section of the water front for the purpose of maintaining a monopoly. The requirement laid upon the Southern Pacific and the Union Belt Line should be laid upon all other railroads. It is a requirement dictated by sound public policy and the spirit of fair play.

The Santa Fe, the Western Pacific, the Key Route and all other railroads should be denied the exclusive privilege withheld from the Southern Pacific and the Union Belt Line. No line used exclusively for the collection and distribution of freight within the city limits should be chartered unless the cars of all railroads can be run over the track. All such lines should be used as a public convenience and not as a bar to the approach of the water front.

IN A LUTHER BURBANK GARDEN.

White are the coreless apple buds,
As your hand in mine I clasp,
And we wander thru the eyeless spuds
And the raspberries, sans rasp.

You plucked a blackberry, dazzling white,
As we chanted a tuneless rune,
And I took a luscious, soulful bite
Of a pitless, skinless prune.

In this dear place I would live for aye,
Discussing the whyless how,
And speeding the minuteless hours by,
From the path of the pastless now.

THE MEDDLER

A NOTABLE TEA.

The event of the week in San Francisco society was the large and brilliant reception given on Thursday by Mrs. Henry L. Dodge in honor of her niece and nephew Mr. and Mrs. Walter Remington Quick. Mr. and Mrs. Quick were recently married in Minneapolis and this reception was to introduce them to Mrs. Dodge's San Francisco friends. Mrs. Quick, who was formerly Mrs. Hodgson, has spent several winters in San Francisco as a visitor, and so is by no means unknown. She is a handsome young woman with charming manners and is a witty conversationalist. She has a sparkling face and laughing eyes. Mr. Quick is a prominent young business man and widely known. He is a New Yorker, who has resided in San Francisco for some years. He lived at the Hotel Colonial before the fire. Mrs. Hodgson is very well known in Minneapolis, where she has always been a member of the smart set. Her mother, Mrs. Bigelow, is a beautiful woman and is one of the prominent matrons of that delightful city.

Among those who assisted Mrs. Dodge in receiving her guests, who included men as well as women, were Mrs. Horace Davis, Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, Mrs. Gule, Mrs. Ira Pierce, Mrs. Cyrus Walker, Mrs. Rosenstock, Mrs. J. R. K. Nuttall, Mrs. Frank Griffin, Mrs. Eleanor Martin, Miss Jennie Blair, Miss Emily Wilson and Miss Louise Boyd.

The Dodge home is one of the stately old residences in Franklin street, which was fortunately spared by the fire. Mrs. Dodge was ordered to leave during the terrible April days and departed with only bedding piled in her private carriage. It was stated that her house was to be dismantled together with the large residences of the Doreys, the Carrolls and the Houghtons on the opposite corners of the block. After three days at the Presidio, Mrs. Dodge returned to find everything intact, and her old butler on guard. Since then she has spent several months in Minneapolis, but has now returned to spend the winter at home. Mrs. Dodge is an indefatigable hostess and a skillful bridge player and never misses any function worth while. Last year she gave a large and brilliant bridge party for Mrs. Hodgson and Mrs. Bigelow. Her reception on Thursday was one of the brilliant affairs of the winter and ranks with the Hopkins, Keeney and Martin receptions, which have been high water marks for the three previous weeks. The throng of guests included all that is best in San Francisco's most exclusive set.

THE HOPKINS TEA.

The event of last week across the bay was the brilliant coming-out tea given by Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Hopkins to present their debutante daughter, Miss Lydia, to San Francisco society.

The affair took place in the Paris Tea Garden, which was charmingly decorated for the occasion with hanging baskets and floating greens from the beautiful Hopkins grounds in San Mateo county. Miss Lydia is a tall, slender, winsome girl. She was simply dressed, but Mrs. Hopkins was radiant. The hostess and her daughter were assisted in receiving by a bevy of matrons and society girls of this and past seasons. There were a good many men at the tea, which always makes it more fun.

LUNCING AT THE PALACE HOTEL.

The fashionable place to lunch these days is at the Little Palace Hotel, as it is called—a rather large, shingled building in the midst of the burned district, where the traditions of the old Palm Garden are kept up. Every Saturday a fashionable throng takes luncheon there, and on week-days, as well, the tables are usually crowded, though the floor space is very large. Cool, gray draperies at the window, and tables that are far enough apart for comfort, gives a spacious air to the room.

Saturday of last week and the week before Miss Jennie Blair was a luncheon hostess, entertaining several guests on both occasions. At her first luncheon her guests included Mrs. Harry Holbrook, Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, and Mrs. Walter Remington Quick, and last Saturday she entertained Mrs. W. H. and Miss Belle Smith just prior to their departure for Santa Barbara, where they will spend the winter at the Hotel Potter. Among friends of the Smiths who are staying there are Mrs. A. P. Hotelling, Fred Hotelling and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Coleman.

Mrs. Jack Wilson was a luncheon hostess at the Palace last Saturday, as was Mrs. Frank Deering. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Macgee were at one table and Russell Selfridge and his fiancée, Miss Grace Baldwin, at another. At a large round table were William H.

Crocker, J. C. Wilson, Cyrus Pierce, and a number of other men.

RECEIVING CONGRATULATIONS.

Congratulations are being showered on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter Bishop on the birth of a son who has already been named Thomas Porter Bishop, third, as the little son of Mr.

MISS BEATRICE FREDERICK—Belle-Oudry Photo

and Mrs. Jack Spreckels has received the name of his father and grandfather with the distinguished "third" after it. Mrs. Bishop was Miss Anna Voorhies, and is a charming young woman. The Bishops have been married some six or seven years, but this is their first child, and there is consequently no little excitement over it in the family, especially as this is the first grandson in the Bishop family. Dr. Voorhies, Mrs. Bishop's father, who was critically ill so many weeks at Del Monte, is now entirely recovered and is able to motor about and to lunch at his club. Dr. Voorhies suffered a slight stroke of paralysis at the Hotel del Monte, where he had gone to stay over Sunday, but his magnificent constitution has enabled him to rally, and no further trouble of the sort is expected. Dr. and Mrs. Voorhies are as widely known and loved as any two people in San Francisco.

CONVALESCING FROM TYPHOID FEVER.

Three well-known people who have been ill for weeks with typhoid fever are now recovering, to the great joy of their many friends. Mrs. W. Frank Pierce, who has been ill in bed for six weeks, is now better. Miss Hazel King, who was confined to her bed for eight weeks, is now able to be out and Willard Field, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Field of Alameda, is also convalescing. Typhoid, which has been so prevalent this year, is of a low type, but nevertheless it lingers and has sometimes most annoying after-consequences which keeps its victims semi-invalids for a long time.

Willard Field, at the time he was stricken, was engaged in important work in the wrecking of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

THANKSGIVING FEASTING.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Curtiss spent the Thanksgiving holidays at Belvedere. Mr. Adams spent Thanksgiving in Sacramento, where the Adams family held a reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott, Miss Adele Scott and Mrs. D. Rynders took their Thanksgiving dinner at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

MISS GRAY HOSTESS.

Miss Helen Gray was hostess at a most enjoyable dinner last Thursday evening, given in honor of Miss Genevieve Isaacs, whose marriage to Mr. Carl Schilling will take place on January 22nd. It was in the nature of a bridesmaids' dinner, as most of the guests present will be of the bridal party. The table was a beautiful plume with yellow chrysanthemums, and pale green tulle, with the mellow light from the shades of the candelabra over all the bright young faces. The guests present were: Miss Genevieve Isaacs, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Johanna Volman, Miss Essie Dalton, Mr. Carl Schilling, Mr. Wm. Volkman, Mr. M. Garcia, Mr. Daniel Volkman, and Mr. McKinnan.

WILL GIVE A DANCE.

A dance will be that of the Gamma Beta of Omega on Friday evening, December 1, at the Paris Tea Garden.

Some of the young ladies who will make this dance popular are the Misses Marie Churchill, Helen Gray, Enid Gregg, Christine McNab, Minna Van Bergen, Ruth Bradford, Elizabeth Fitzgibbon and Essie Dalton.

PICTURES IN "THE MEDDLER."

Miss Merle Maddern, Miss Elsie

gowned in white, and both are most attractive girls.

It was one of the largest receptions of the year, as the Coffins have a wide circle of friends, and all of them enjoyed the reunion. So many strangers have come into our lives of late, that we welcome with pleasure the opportunity of meeting our friends of many years. There was this atmosphere also which helped to make our hour at the reception one of the very pleasant hours of the week.

In the receiving party were Mrs. E. J. Barrett and Mrs. Sam Breck, both near relatives of Mrs. Aldrich Barton. Mrs. Barrett was dressed in soft gray crepe de chine, exquisitely trimmed in point lace. Every one is so fond of Mrs. Barrett, so glad she is home again, that she had quite a reception on her own account.

Mrs. Sam Breck, who is so bright and attractive, and so popular among our young matrons, was dressed in white, the bodice showing a handsome arrangement of rare lace.

Among the handsome calling costumes of the afternoon was that worn by Mrs. Willard Barton, who is also one of the brightest guests one may meet at an afternoon tea.

Mrs. T. C. Coogan was also in the receiving party, and she takes the trouble to make every one so welcome that one loves to meet her. And the same may be said of Miss May Coogan and Miss Mollie Mathes, both of whom were in the receiving party.

Mrs. George Wheaton made a most attractive picture, beautiful as always, in a gown of black velvet, with a hat showing French effects.

Mrs. Edson Adams wore a French gown set off with a chiffon boa, the costume showing tones of black and white.

Miss Christie Taft is a very stunning girl and she wore a most striking coat of white astrachan, her costume being most original.

Mrs. George Sterrett Wheaton wore a gown of white broadcloth, the costume set off with a wide pink hat.

Miss Anita Thomson wore a calling gown of brown broadcloth with brown furs, and a black picture hat, with plumes and red roses.

Miss Carmen Sutton made a very dainty study in a reception costume in tones of light gray.

Mrs. Hiram Hall, who was formerly Bessie Haven, is one of the most stunning of the very young matrons. She wore a gown of brown velvet, set off with a hat in tones of very light blue.

In the receiving party was Mrs. Challen Parker, formerly Noelle De Colla. She is one of the most charming young brides of the year, and she looked exceedingly well in her dainty wedding gown. Mrs. De Colla is always one of the most stunning guests at any social affair—of a striking type of beauty, and one of the brightest conversationalists one may meet anywhere.

Miss Mollie Connors was in gray silk, with a gray hat and gray furs, and Mrs. A. D. Thomson wore a blue tailor gown in heavy broadcloth.

Every one was glad to meet bright Mrs. E. J. Cotton out again, she has been kept in the house so long with a sprained ankle. She was beautifully gowned in blue messaline, the corsage showing an attractive arrangement of lace.

Mrs. Wallace Everson wore an exceedingly handsome gown of black panne velvet, trimmed in black lace, and one of the very popular guests of the afternoon was Mrs. John Yule.

Mrs. Creed was accompanied by her popular daughter, Mrs. Wigington Creed. Mr. and Mrs. Creed are now comfortably established in their own attractive home on Athol avenue.

A pretty bevy of very young girls served refreshments in the dining room, among whom were Miss Helen Lowden, Miss Pussy Creed, and Miss Gladys Wilson. The latter was a very pretty and artistic study in blue.

Mrs. Philip Clay was easily one of the most beautiful young matrons of the afternoon. She was gowned in pale lavender, with a very handsome hat to match the gown, and she was a beautiful and charming study.

Miss Jane Barry wore a gown of broadcloth in dark tones of red, and Miss Letty Barry was in blue, with a dark blue hat to match the gown.

Among the guests of the afternoon were: Miss Horton, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Miss Virginia von Loben Seis, Miss Center, Miss Nellie V. Jones, Miss Taft, Miss Fore, Miss Ethel Volentine, Mrs. B. S. Hubbard, Mrs. Rod Church, Miss Church, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Ruth, Mrs. Lemmon, Mrs. Allender, Miss Claire Chabot, Mrs. Frederick Dieckmann, Mrs. Wilbur Wilson, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Mrs. David Spencer, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. J. B. Eby, Mrs. John A. Britton, Mrs. E. A. Heron, Mrs. E. L. Dow, Mrs. Islam, Mrs. J. F. Wiggins, Mrs. Gilbert Belcher, Mrs. F. M. Butler, Mrs. W. T. Veitch, Mrs. William Knowles, Mrs. Samuel Hubbard, Mrs. Samuel Hubbard Junior, Miss Engelhardt, Miss Marian Walsh, Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Gladys English, Miss Clara English, Mrs. Gordon Stolp, Mrs. T. L. Barker.

The reception was one of the important social events of the winter, and was much enjoyed by the large circle of friends fortunate enough to be the guests of Mrs. Coffin and her interesting daughters.

ATTRACTIVE DEBUTANTES.

Among the attractive debutantes of the winter is Miss Inez Estudillo, for whom her cousin, Mrs. Jahish Clement, is doing so much this winter.

Mrs. Clement was formerly Miss Ada Dougherty, and for many months the Doughertys made their home in Fruitvale. Later they went to San Francisco, and Miss Dougherty married

MISS MERLE MADDERN

Mr. Jahish Clement, a capitalist recently returned from South Africa.

Mrs. Dougherty and the Clements were at the Piesancon in San Francisco during the earthquake and fire, and lost much of value. Mrs. Clement entertained informally on Monday evening in honor of Miss Estudillo, and her guests included for the most part her Fruitvale neighbors. Among the young people who enjoyed Mrs. Clement's hospitality were Miss Eva Yorkner, Miss Agnes and Miss Lucy Cushing, Miss Belknap, Miss Grimwood, Miss Ray Wellman, Miss Florence Hush, Miss Elsie Marwedel, Miss Agnes Buchanan, Miss Laura Sanborn, Miss Inez Estudillo, Will and John Sanborn, Walter Hush, Will McBride, Frank Wellman, Frank Grimwood, Dr. Arnold Genthe, Mr. Marwedel, Mr. Belknap.

Mrs. Martin sailed for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Martin sailed last week on the steamer La Savole for Europe, and they are planning to spend the entire winter abroad. They will return next summer to Newport, where they have taken a cottage.

MISS HORTON RETURNS.

Miss Sarah Horton, the able principal of the Horton School, returned last week from Santa Barbara, where she spent a delightful month. Miss Horton has quite recovered from her recent dangerous illness, and much to the joy of her old friends is quite herself again.

PARCELLS TAKE HOME HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parcells and their little daughters are among those who have come to our side of the bay for the winter, and they are at the Parcells home on Webster street.

Mrs. Parcells, Senior, is still in Europe, where she is having a most delightful time, the guest of her sister, whose permanent home is abroad.

MRS. DUNNING SAILS.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dunning and Miss Helen Dunning sailed recently from New York for Europe. They have taken the Mediterranean trip, and they are planning to spend the winter months in southern Europe.

MISSES EVERSON RETURN.

The Misses Marian and Elsie Everson returned to town last week, having enjoyed a delightful visit at Long Beach, near Los Angeles. They were the guests of their sister, Mrs. Arthur Grodhus, who has a delightful home in the south.

The Eversons are among those who have new motor cars, and Miss Elsie Everson displays much skill in the management of the new machine.

MRS. SELBY BACK.

Mrs. Premies Selby has arrived safely in Europe and has joined her daughters, who have been abroad some time. Mrs. Selby and her daughters are planning to go to Rome for the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Butters and the Misses Butters are still in Paris, but they are finding it very cold there this winter, and are planning to appear the flower of old Spain. The wealth, the youth, the beauty, the pride of race and breeding, the courtesy, the hospitality, the grace of a people who gloried in their sense of honor and their ancestry, all are most charmingly conveyed.

And so Richard Tully has "arrived." He is a Californian, of that we are proud. And we are proud also of the beautiful picture he has given to the East of our own wonderful early Californian days.

Finally one of the Yalco students, who was in a box, rose and made a great appeal for the honor of the university, that it should not be said that the students acted in such a manner that the performance had to stop. He finally succeeded in impressing the students, and the curtain was rung up again. The students cheered Miss D'Arville, and sang all the choruses of her songs with her, so several of the scenes and songs were skipped, and the play was cut short.

The fire department ordered the asbestos curtain lowered, on account of the great quantities of confetti which covered the floor.

CLAYS WILL RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clay are planning to return to San Francisco in the very near future. They have been at Fruitvale over a year, during which time their own artistic home on Steiner street has been rented. Fortunately the beautiful little home was not burned, and the Philip Clays are going back to San Francisco for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, with Master Hearst and Mrs. Hearst's sister, are coming to California to spend the Christmas holidays at the Hacienda at Pleasanton. They have been recently at old Monterey in Mexico, at the extensive hacienda owned there by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst. One hears wonderful tales of this superb hacienda, where it is thirty miles from the gate to the front door step. It is one of the most superb holdings in all of Mexico, and one of the most valuable properties there.

The Red Cross of Italy is to be given to Mr. Hearst. The Supreme Committee of the Italian Red Cross has adopted a resolution to confer upon him a large special medal granted only to distinguished benefactors of humanity. The committee thanked him for his efforts to relieve the distress caused by the Vesuvius disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cotton will leave for the East immediately after Christmas. Mr. Cotton is called East on business, and they expect to go directly to New York. They will visit other leading Eastern cities before returning home.

WILL LEAVE FOR EUROPE.

Miss Ethel Valentine and Miss Pauline Fore are also planning to leave for the East and Europe immediately after Christmas.

Miss Valentine has been abroad before, and both of the girls have done much preliminary reading and studying, so their trip abroad will probably be of the greatest benefit to them.

TULLY SCORES SUCCESS.

From the East come glowing accounts of the success of Richard Walton Tully's new play, "Rose of the Rancho." Mr. Tully is associated with Mr. Belasco, and the play scored an instantaneous success in Boston and in New York.

"Rose of the Rancho" is the same play that was put on here under the title of "Juanita of San Juan," and it was a typical picture of early Spanish days in California. Strange to say, every California critic scored it roundly, save only the Meddler, who frankly stood out for it. Then the Meddler got itself scored, as lacking in dramatic perception. Richard Tully was not a prophet in his own country, and he must have been hurt and indignant at the roasting his play received at the hands of the California critics.

And how much satisfaction it must give him that the play has scored such a tremendous success in two such big cities as Boston and New York.

The Eastern papers are devoting columns to the play, columns mostly of very real praise. One reads that "the play is bewilderingly lovely to the minutest detail."

And another paragraph is well worth quoting:

"The stage has never had a more truthful portrayal of California loveliness than the scenic illusion created in the three acts of this play. There is introduced, too, a new phase of Spanish life, which is a matter of no small moment. The stage, hitherto, has given nothing but the Spaniard of the streets, Carmen, the woman of the factory, the low-bred virago whose leaves were questionable. But here appears the flower of old Spain. The wealth, the youth, the beauty, the pride of race and breeding, the courtesy, the hospitality, the grace of a people who gloried in their sense of honor and their ancestry, all are most charmingly conveyed.

YALE'S BAD BEHAVIOR.

The scene at the Liberty Theater after the football game had its counterpart last week in New Haven, when the curtains were rung down because of the behavior of the Yale students.

It happened in the Hyperion Theater, where Camille D'Arville was playing in "The Belle of London Town."

The fire department ordered the asbestos curtain lowered, on account of the great quantities of confetti which covered the floor.

Finally one of the Yalco students, who was in a box, rose and made a great appeal for the honor of the university, that it should not be said that the students acted in such a manner that the performance had to stop. Every one is glad that Mr. and Mrs. Williams are to be in San Francisco this winter, for they are both immensely helpful in many ways. Mr. Williams is generous to a degree, and he is one who gives cheerfully and from his heart, and the true amount of his benefactions is never known to the general public.

SOCIAL NEWS of the WEEK

SAILS FOR LONDON.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walton Tully sailed on the Caronia last week from New York. They are planning to spend six months abroad, and will be in London for the Christmas holidays. Early in the year they are going to Paris, and later to southern Europe.

Mrs. Williams' sister, beautiful Miss Muriel Steele, is still abroad, and does not expect to return to California until the spring.

MRS. YULE TO ENTERTAIN.

Mrs. John Yule is to entertain after Christmas, in her home in East Oakland. Her guests are to be the members of the Wheelock Club, who have played cards for so many seasons together.

Indeed, the Wheelock Club is the oldest of all our card clubs, and was organized years ago by Miss Kate Wheelock.

The Wheelock Club has not been holding meetings this season. There has been illness in the families of so many of its members, and the passing of Doctor Fine, of James Moffitt, of Mrs. Folger, and of Mrs. Lore has brought sadness to prominent homes.

Later in the winter, the club will meet, and Mrs. Yule is planning to have an informal gathering of those who have played together so many seasons.

ENJOY AN AUTO TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Spring and Mrs. Robert Newell have been enjoying an interesting automobile trip in these early winter days. They have been to Monterey, and enjoyed some delightful days at Del Monte.

HAS GONE EAST.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Macdonald left for the East this week, and have gone directly to New York. They are planning to return home for Christmas, and both the Tucker and Macdonald families will have large Christmas gatherings.

MRS. DOUBLEDAY'S TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. George Doubleday, formerly Miss Alice Moffitt, have spent the autumn abroad, and have made an interesting trip through southern Europe. They are expected to arrive in New York next week, and they are planning to come to California after the Christmas holidays.

WINTER AFFAIRS.

Except for a few informal affairs for brides-elect, and the Friday night dances, the winter does not promise much in a social way. Of course, we keep our holidays as usual, for our own families, and for our poor people. And almost every woman belongs to some charitable organization which makes demands upon her energies. But after the holidays there is very little to look forward to, in a social way, so an unusual number of trips away are being planned. Our friends abroad bid fair to stay there some months longer, since there is so little to come home to this winter.

Others are going abroad, and some prominent people are planning a month or two in New York this winter. Others who are not going so far afield, are planning a late winter in southern California, and Coronado as a delightful place in which to spend fascinating weeks in rapidly coming to the foreground. It is as far south as one may go, and still be in California, and the beautiful days one may spend there make pleasant memories to carry with one down the future.

At the head of the management of affairs at beautiful Coronado are Mr. Morgan Ross and Mr. John J. Herman, both of whom know how to plan the happiest scheme of living for the guests who come under their care. Coronado is like some fascinating great castle, and its managers, with great good breeding, tact, and skill, know how to add to its atmosphere of refinement, and to make, in a well-bred fashion, each day so happy that the days move by like dreams.

Perhaps the most beautiful beach along the coast is that at Coronado, and the climate is so exquisitely soft and warm that one may have surf bathing at Christmas. It is a lazy climate—just the place in which the strenuous American may for once forget the day's work, and just lie on the sand for hours, content to let life drift by in lazy, idle fashion.

And there is much to do in Coronado; there are fishing trips on the ocean; there is quaint old San Diego to explore; and there is always the fascinating trip over the border to Mexico, where Tia Juana, which means "Aunt Jane," is a typical Mexican town, and full of Mexican treasures.

Mr. Herman takes the lead in paper chases and fascinating polo games, and the Coronado Country Club has one of the most picturesque club houses on the coast.

No wonder that sunny southern California is full of interest to our people, and that this winter Coronado calls to us, and beckons us southward with a charm that is irresistible.

HAVENS AT HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Havens have returned to their Piedmont home after a flying trip to New York. Mrs. Havens is devoting much time to the planning of her new home, and she is so artistic that it bids fair to be a joy not only to the family itself, but to all their many friends. The latter may hope to have many good times in the beautiful home. Ground has been broken for the new home at Piedmont, and work on it will be pushed rapidly forward this winter.

MISS CHABOT HERE.

Miss Nellie Chabot did not go to Washington this winter with the Victor Metcalfs, but remained in Oakland and is at her home here.

Miss Chabot entertains her friends most delightfully, and she is especially happy as a dinner hostess. Every one knows it is the most difficult thing in the world to be a good dinner hostess. One must know how to bring congenial people together, and how to bring out the best there is in each guest. And one must be a good listener as well as a good conversationalist. And then there is the difficult hour after dinner, which requires much tact to bridge over, unless there is a musical program or cards.

Miss Chabot entertained friends at dinner on Wednesday, at her home in East Oakland, and her guests enjoyed one of the delightful evenings of the winter.

MR. AND MRS. BARTON SETTLED.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Barton are cosily established in a delightful little home of their own at Linda Vista. One hears that it is a very pretty little home, and very artistic with the numerous wedding presents, gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Barton from friends and relatives.

The picturesque little home planned for Mr. and Mrs. Challen Parker is almost finished, and one hears that it also is very artistic. It is near the Barton home and that of Doctor Boyes, and the Parkers hope that they may be in their new home for Christmas.

CHARMING WEDDING.

One of the most charming of all the weddings of the winter was that of Mr. Willie F. Kelly and Miss Edna Wickson, which took place last week at the home of the bride in Berkeley. The Wicksons are well-known Berkeley people, having lived there for many years, and Mrs. Wickson is so cordial, so charming and well bred; then her home has been a most happy one, representing our best American traditions of home.

The wedding was an ideal one, for the bride had around her only the relatives she loved, and the old friends who were dear to her. And that makes the most valued list of wedding guests, and adds to the true sentiment of a happy wedding. The bride was unusually beautiful in a lovely wedding gown. She is a tall, handsome girl, and she carried the gown unusually well. The long tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms, and the wedding bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The bride wore for jewels only those given her by the groom.

Her attendants were her three sisters, all gowned in white, and the ning to give is Oscar Wilde's clever drama, "Concerning the Importance of Being Busy."

Miss Elsie Maxwell is altogether charming, and far and away one of the most clever amateur actresses on the coast. She is a very bright girl, graceful and pretty, with much dramatic talent.

Mr. Elmer Harris is a playwright who has carried off honors in Europe, and his lectures on modern plays, especially on the work of Pinero and Ibsen, have been notable literary events. It will be a rare pleasure to hear him interpret a modern play.

Among the prominent people who are taking much interest in the coming event are Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Wetherbee, Mrs. Lowndes Scott, Mrs. Oscar Long, Mrs. George McNear, Jr., Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton, Mrs. Ernest Stent, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. William G. Henshaw, Mrs. Frank Havens, Mrs. Thomas Crillin, Mrs. George Wheaton, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. R. Augustus Eray, and Mrs. G. B. Cook.

The play will be given at Ye Liberty Theater on the evening of December 17.

FIRST MEETING OF FRIDAY CLUB.

The first meeting of the Friday Night Club will be held this week at the Home Club, and the other meetings of the winter will be held in the new hall of the Ebell Club.

The patronesses of the club are expecting a large attendance, and one hears that the assemblage will represent a brilliant affair.

Among the hostesses at dinner before the assembly will be Miss Allene Johnson and Miss Ethel Havemeyer.

PLAYING BRIDGE.

Every one is playing "Bridge" this year, even those of us who were stupid last winter, play a fairly good game now. And at evening card parties, "Bridge" is very much the order of the hour.

One of the largest Bridge parties was given by Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Hubbard, at their home at Linda Vista, and the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Barton.

The guests were all neighbors from the Linda Vista district, and included many of the bright young married people who have homes there. Among the very pretty gowns of the evening were those worn by Miss Marian Walsh, Miss Alice Britton, Miss Alice Coffin, Miss May Coogan, Miss Englehardt, Miss Eby, Mrs. William Knowles, Mrs. Fred Dieckmann, Mrs. David Brown, and Mrs. Arthur Tishler.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

The Christmas spirit is in the air. And with all this cold crispness it is just the typical ideal holiday atmosphere. The red holly berries shine warmly in the windows and are beginning to find their way to our different homes. The young Christmas trees are beginning to come from the mountains, and though they preach the vandalism of the forests all the rest of the year, it is of no avail at Christmas time, for clearly do we love our Christmas trees.

All the various kindergarten managers are planning the most fascinating trees. The West Oakland kindergarten always has a Christmas feast for its children, and everything is so delightfully individual, even to the dearest little individual mince pie!

The Ladies' Relief society always has the brightest of Christmas trees, and it is hard to tell which enjoys it the most, the dear old ladies or the picturesque little children.

The Fabiola hospital has its bright Christmas tree for the nurses and for the patients well enough to enjoy it. The Ladies' Auxiliary are planning also a Christmas tree at Providence hospital.

Over at Cottage Hill, each little cottage is planning its own Christmas cheer. And the children have kind loving, true friends to help them in Mrs. Bernard Miller, Miss Sperry, Miss Evelyn Ellis, Mrs. Roland Oliver, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Frank C. Hayens, Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain, Mrs. Edward Walsh, and always, of course, generous, great-hearted F. M. Smith.

So much practicing is being done that the music in the many churches bids fair to reach a high standard of excellence, and the Christmas carols will ring grandly out on Christmas morn. Five musical programs are very well planned, notably in St. Paul's Episcopal church, in the Church of the Advent, and at St. Mary's.

In the latter church, Christmas is to be celebrated in a most joyful way. Father Seamon's concert was such a grand financial success that the sanctuary appointments for Christmas will be very beautiful.

And there is to be the traditional Christmas crib, so dear to be children. They love the crib, symbols of the stable at Bethlehem, with the little Christ child and his parents and the shepherds and the wise men of the East. It tells the Christmas story in a rare way, and when the children sing their merry carols, and the time-honored "Adoro Fideles," the true Christmas spirit seems to be with us.

The remarks last Sunday of Rev. Charles R. Brown deserve to be widely quoted: He made an eloquent plea to his listeners to begin their Christmas shopping early this year, mindful of all the tired women in our many stores. The amount of shopping on our side of the bay has increased enormously this year, and it will be impossible for the stores to handle the Christmas rush unless people begin early.

Rev. Mr. Brown made a plea for early shopping in the interest of the many shop women who must try to serve us at Christmas time, and he urged women to carry home their own parcels whenever it was possible to do so, and in this way to lighten the burdens of weary little boys. All of us are glad to do it, of course, for our sweet, unselfish kindness to each other is our best way of showing the true Christmas spirit.

NOTABLE WEDDING.

One of the notable weddings of the winter will be that of Miss Delight Woodbury and Mr. Vincent de Laveaga, which will take place at the Woodbury home on the evening of December the twenty-ninth.

The Woodburys represent one of the prominent families of the city, and Mrs. Woodbury is well known as the brilliant president of the Ebell Club.

Mr. de Laveaga comes from one of the oldest families of the state, a family of prestige and of influence in the business world.

Mrs. Andrew Welch, who was formerly Miss de Laveaga, is a beautiful young matron most popular in social circles across the bay.

Miss Anita Thomson is to send out cards early in the week for a large card party in honor of Miss Woodbury.

Miss Thomson and Miss Woodbury were school friends for many years at the Horton School, and the large card party is in the way of a graceful compliment to a very charming little bride-elect.

CHARITY AFFAIR.

The ambitious young people who have organized the Independent Stage society will present "Oscar Wilde's Kinnow as the Rev. Dr. Chasuble, Miss Beatrice, Frederick as the Hon. Grandson Fairfax, Miss Merle Madder as Cecily Cardew, Miss Eliza Maxwell as Lady Bracknell, Miss Margaret Knox as Miss Prism, Reginald Shaw and John Pardington will also hold clever roles.

Among those interested in the success of the affair are Mrs. Edson play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," at Ye Liberty playhouse on Monday evening, December 12th, and the

Dr. and Mrs. Max Muehlenbruch of East Oakland will leave on December 14 for an extended tour of the United States and Canada. During their absence they will visit relatives in New York State and go thence into Canada, where they expect to remain for several months. Dr. Muehlenbruch and wife have a host of friends hereabouts who will wish them a pleasant trip and a safe return to Oakland.

DOLL SHOW.

The Doll Show at Reed hall for the benefit of the West Oakland home will close this evening and a program of musical and literary numbers will add to the occasion.

The last performance of "Prince January" took place this afternoon under the direction of Miss Ethel Coplin.

Among those who made the court of King Winter attractive were Miss Caryl George, Miss Sara Thomas, Miss Etta Schrock, Miss Florence Matthews, Miss Florence Morrison, Miss Alice Bickley, Miss Pauline Chamberlain, Miss Helen Mehrmann, Miss Hascall Waterhouse, Miss Fannie Smith, Miss Bernice Collins, Miss Miriam Weihe, Miss Ruth Bruce, Miss Edsonita Adams, Miss Dorothy Carter, Miss Sweetheart Adams, Miss Marlon Eunnell, Miss Gladys Gerrish, Miss Marlon Chamberlain, Miss Florence Brown, Bobby Adams and Alfred Carter. The junior orchestra, under Alexander Stewart, rendered several numbers.

FOR BRIDE ELECT.

Miss Hazel Horton will entertain next week at a pretty affair planned for Miss Augusta Merritt, whose engagement to Thomas Wayne Norris has been announced. The popular bride-elect will be the recipient of several dainty trifles, since a shower party is planned.

WINNER OF FEATURE MAY BE A DERBY CANDIDATE

LOS ANGELES, December 5.—Colonel Jack, a good-looking colt in Holland's string, captured the feature of Ascot's programme in a gallop, carrying the top weight, and his performance suggests him as a likely candidate for California Derby honors. The colt, a son of the late year's Ascot Derby, and it looks as if Colonel Jack may repeat. Despite that he was giving away weight, he was heavily supported, closing at 7 to 10, and he justified the confidence of his backers, holding the race safe all the way. Pepper and Salt proved an eagle bird for the bookmakers in the opening race. Weather clear, track fast.

Mister Automobile Buyer!

This is a Plain Talk on Second-hand Cars

It will pay you to read this article through

YOU have long wanted an automobile, but stories of expense and depreciation in value have deterred you. You have enough money to live comfortably, but none to throw away. You want the best results for your money, and your business instinct warns you against an investment that involves a loss. Why not let the other men stand the loss for you? People of great wealth buy new cars, sell their old ones at a sacrifice, and after once thus sold, their values are very steady and their depreciation is almost nominal. The first owner's loss is your gain.

Do you fear that a car which has seen its first wear has outlived its usefulness? We will demonstrate to you that whatever may be the case with other cars, this is not true of WHITE cars. There is no vibration in a steam machine which is present in a car operated by an explosive motor. The latter tends to crystallization and a continued jar throughout the machine, which means general deterioration. The WHITE car is operated in a rational manner by a continuous stream of steam, which drives the engine smoothly and in such a manner that the wear is confined to the action of the road and the normal frictional wear on the bearings.

Every second-hand WHITE car we sell is carefully overhauled by ourselves—bearings which show unusual wear are renewed; any lost motion is eliminated, and the car is as good as it ever was. You deal with a branch office of the factory, and the car is renewed by those best qualified to do it successfully—namely, its makers.

The man who buys a second-hand car from us gets as good as new. We sell all of our second-hand cars with precisely the same guaranty we give with new cars—you receive new car treatment on second-hand purchases. Whatever your means, we can give you a car to correspond. We have cars ranging in value from $300.00 to $2,500.00.

Read what one buyer of our second-hand cars says of our machines and our methods:

"I bought one car in July, 1904. It was second-hand when I bought it, but it was represented by you to be in good condition, and I certainly found that to be the case. I had excellent service out of it, and would probably be running it yet, but I saw a chance to sell it at a profit of $150.00 and did so. I found I could not do without a machine, and a little later bought another car from you, this also being second-hand. I have had the greatest satisfaction out of it, and in the two years in which I have been running it the engine has been out only once and the repairs have been exceedingly small. I have had excellent success with both machines, and if I ever want another you may rest assured I will come to you."

We will be glad to show you the original of this and of other similar letters.

Write us or come and see us, and we will do everything in our power to suit you on a car accommodated to the amount you wish to invest. Join the fraternity of WHITE users. You will find there is a comradeship among them unknown to the users of any other make of car.

MILLER DRIVES FIREBALL TO VICTORY

By LEE DEMIER.

Yesterday's feature was the Geraldine Handicap over the Futurity course, in which a first-class collection of sprinters were engaged, topped by Shot Gun. An interesting $500 purse closed the day's proceedings. The balance of the card was made up of selling races.

First race—Just before post time in the opening race, a five-furlong sprint for two-year-olds, the ring was flooded with silver-lined money, sending the price from 4 to 1 to 2 to 1. A. Brown got the filly off in front and she opened up a winning gap of three lengths. The lad went on about his business and, hustling the filly all the way, winning by two lengths. Behind the winner came Jezabel. Mrs. Mathews tired chasing the pacemaker and just lasted to get the show.

Second race—A drizzling rain began to fall as the ten mares of the four-year-olds and upward lined up to the barrier. Of this contingent, Susie Christian was best liked and went to the post favorite at 6 to 5. Right after the start the Lady Roshia got into a jam and fell to her knees, unseating her jockey. The boy escaped without injury. Hersain was first away and showed her head to the field to the far turn, where she gave way to Susie Christian, who maintained the lead to the end. Cheripe and Isabella challenged the winner near the wire, but the effort was of no avail and they finished in the order named.

Third race—So close was the finish in the third race that only the judges were in a position to place the first three horses. Monaco Maid, first choice, led. Cloche d'Or and Alice Carey finished in a heap at the wire and only noses separated the pair. After a few minutes' deliberation the judges placed Monaco Maid first, Cloche d'Or second and Alice Carey third.

Fourth race—After the running of the fourth race the betting ring was deserted, while the crowds gathered around the judges' stand and cheered Walter Miller to an echo for his wonderful ride on Fireball, which horse easily beat Walter Jennings' crack Shot Gun in the Geraldine Handicap. It was an ovation that perhaps has never been given any jockey at Williams Park. The five that went to the post were sent away to a perfect start. Before an eighth of a mile had been negotiated the race simmered down to a two-horse affair, with Shot Gun setting the pace. Miller's horsemanship here asserted itself, as he simply held his mount in a good position. Brussell and the supporters of Shot Gun thought it was all over but for shooting. The jockey waited patiently till he straightened for home, when he let Fireball down, and from there on was like breaking for the Durnell gelding. Only once did Miller go to the bat, and that was when Shot

PAUL MARTINI OUTFIGHTS EDWARDS

BOTH MEN MIX MATTERS
BEFORE DREAMLAND
SPECTATORS.

Al Emmica Gives Kutches a Severe Drubbing — Other Events.

Paul Martini outboxed and out-fought Frankie Edwards in their four-round fight last night in Dreamland Pavilion before an unusually large attendance of spectators. Both boys were willing to mix matters from the start and the bout was full of action. Martini scored repeatedly with right and left, while Edwards found it difficult to land an effective blow on his cool opponent. Both were willing to slug in the last round and in one of Martini's wild rushes he slipped and nearly fell headlong out of the ring.

Some of the fighters and most of the spectators seemed out to make a little holiday money with as little exertion as possible.

The spectators could not take the bout between Doughhouse McDonald and Harry Kelly seriously. It was the comedy event of the program. George Harting, the official timekeeper, let the last round go overtime to punish them for their taking tactics. Referee Eddo Hanlon said he should have let it go twenty-five minutes instead of the eight minutes it lasted.

Al Emmick gave Mike Kutches a severe drubbing in the first bout on the card, but the affair was called a draw. One of the judges saw Emmick as the winner, but the other called it a draw. Referee Eddo Hanlon stood by the latter decision. Kutches used an exaggerated crouch, from which he could not hit effectively. The bout was marked by much feeling, both men hitting after the bell at the end of two of the rounds.

Johnny Murphy stopped Loren Brown in two rounds. Brown was knocked down for the count of nine in the first round with an overhand right cross. A similar blow put him down again at the end of the second round. Police Lieutenant Lackman stopped the bout at that point, as Brown was unable to defend himself. Murphy had a puzzling left, which Brown could not block.

Charlie Kelly and Joe Leahy put up one of the cleverest exhibitions ever seen here between four-round bouts. Each seemed intent on out-pointing the other without taking a chance of being hurt. Kelly used a double left-handed blow, which usually landed. The judges just called it a draw. Leahy had won nineteen fights without a defeat. Leahy was cool throughout and wasted none of his blows. When Kelly showed any inclination to mix matters he was willing to go as far as his opponent.

North Side Jack O'Brien was given the decision over South Side Jack O'Brien, although the judges had to do some close figuring to reach their conclusion. The first three rounds were given over to pedestrianism with South Side putting the pace. The last round was full of fierce rallies, with South Side doing the greatest punishing.

FAMOUS BROODMARES OUT OF BREEDING BUSINESS

It Is Impossible to Get Rose or War
Mantle in Foal—Kentucky
Turf Notes.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 8.—Two famous thoroughbred broodmares have passed out of the breeding business here in the last few weeks, owing to the fact that it was impossible to get them in foal. They are Rose, the dam of Wild Thyme and Major Tenney, and War Mantle, the dam of the American Oaks winner, Lady Schorr. These two mares were the stud matrons Senator J. W. Bailey got from the widow of the late breeder, Captain James B. Clay, when he purchased Ironquels Stud Farm. Rose has not had a foal since 1904, when the now two-year-old Belle of Frodois was dropped, while War Mantle's last foal is Don John, now a five-year-old, which H. M. Ziegler paid $5000 for as a yearling. Rose is twenty-two years old and War Mantle is nineteen years of age, and Senator Bailey, wanting no pensioners at Ironquels Stud, sold the once great mares a short time since to Jake Sloan, a local horse dealer, for a song, and they are now earning their feed as ordinary work horses, rather than noble end to a pair of stud matrons which have given the turf two such great mares as Wild Thyme and Lady Schorr. Mon Droit, another mare of the famous Gray collection, is still the owner of Ironquels Stud. She is the dam of Major Daingerfield and Jennie McCabe, both stake winners, and the former holds a place among the royal $100,000 winners of the American turf. There is a handsome weanling bay colt out of her now at Frodois farm, by Ed Corrigan's English and American stake winner Imp. Scintillant. Mon Droit is believed to be surely in foal again this season. She was among the outside mares bred to J. B. Kasey's great horse Imp. Star Ruby last spring. Senator Bailey has booked her to be bred to Imp. Meddler next spring. Clarence H. Mackay some time since complimenting the Texas statesman with a season to the phenomenal sire. Mon Droit is also getting along in years, being now seventeen years old; but she is one of the best preserved broodmares of her age in Kentucky, ranks as a regular breeder, and from all appearance at present seems to have many seasons yet before her in the stud.

Milton Young says were it possible to weed his brood mares at McGrath's down to a point where he could still retain at least a number as late as 250 to 300 head and have them all race

ATTILL PUTS OUT WALSH IN 8TH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Abe Attill of San Francisco, feather-weight champion of the world, last night won a decisive battle with Jimmy Walsh of Boston, knocking him out in the eighth round with a straight left to the solar plexus. Walsh regained his senses shortly after the count of ten and was evidently not badly injured. Once before in the eighth round Attill landed a terrific right on Walsh's jaw and followed it up with a rush and rain of blows and had Walsh going badly when some one from Walsh's corner threw a towel into the center of the ring and the fight was stopped. Walsh protested wildly and struggled to get at Attill again. After a moment's delay and wrangling over the matter the fight was resumed. The men went immediately at each other hammer and tongs, and Attill soon had his man going again and quickly put him out. Attill completely outlasted his opponent.

J. JOHNSON DEAD
AGAINST BETTING

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—There will be no betting in the baseball parks in the American League next year, on the National for that matter. If the recommendation of President Johnson is favorably passed on at the next annual meeting, Johnson is in favor of taking a most drastic action against anyone responsible for betting on baseball games, and he thinks both leagues should pass measures which will absolutely stamp out the nuisance.

years be a real rival to the $75,000 Moko, his companion in the stud at Walnut Hall Farm. Another stable, which it is believed will be a dangerous quantity in the Futurities of the next few years to come is that of Colonel J. E. Clay, at Marchmont Farm. The young stuff broke and developed there this season are said to all look like the real trotting article and it is likely Douglas Thomas will be out with quite a string of Colonel Clay's horses in 1907. They are most all by Wiggins and out of mares as richly bred as the most select in the Trotting Register. While Colonel Clay is gradually increasing his thoroughbred breeding department, he means to, in no way curtail his trotting establishment, being still as he always has been, a warm admirer of the extreme speed harness horse.

FIGHTERS ARE IN TRIM FOR RELIANCE CLUB MEET

Six Rattling Scraps Are Assured for Next Week—Principals Are Ready for Bell.

Seats were placed on sale today for the Reliance Club's boxing show, and judging from the advance sale, there will be a large crowd present when the bell sends the first pair of scrappers to the center.

The principals in the main event are now training hard, and if they meet with no accidents the contests should prove one worth going miles to see. Joe Mitchell, who is to meet Willie Johnson in this event is training in a novel manner. He devotes the morning to his gymnasium work, which consists of bag punching, jumping rope and shadow boxing. He does little boxing in his training as he does not believe in taking chances of injuring his hands, claiming that he does enough boxing during the time he is not in training to keep his eyes and distance. In the afternoon he does road work and can be found rowing in a heavy skiff up and down the estuary most every day. In his work he will be assisted by an expert on condition of boxers. His chief adviser is Professor Burns, who has conditioned as many good men on the coast as any trainer in the business.

Martin is being looked after by "Spider" Kelly, so there is little doubt but that the men will be ready for a hot contest.

The two red hot specials are worthy of great consideration, and if the matchmaker had called them with the main event three main events he would hardly have overestimated the class of the contests.

In these events Jackie Worthington will meet Jimmy O'Leary of San Francisco, and M. Angelo will try conclusions with Phil Knight. Worthington and Angelo are already known to the local admirers of fisticle and need no introduction. Knight hails from the north, and his record shows that he is a boxer of class, having beaten some of the best boys in the business. O'Leary also has a good record and his reputation in San Francisco for being a hard aggressive fighter is well known.

The three remaining bouts all look good and the spectators should get a good run for their money.

SALE OF BREEDING STUD DISCLOSES A RARE JUDGE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 8.—The sale of the breeding stud of the late Captain S. S. Brown this week demonstrates that instead of being a "sucker" in the business, as was frequently suggested years ago, that dead Pittsburgh turfman was a rare judge of thoroughbred horses. He paid $17,100 for Reckon four years ago and this week he brought $4000 at auction. When Brown first bought her she was carrying Accountant, who won for the Brown colors more than his dam cost, and sold by the estate for $45,000, netting with the recent sale of the mare a profit of over $50,000 on the venture. When Captain Brown paid $7000 for Florida, that daughter of St. Florian was still in racing trim, and when she sold this week for a brood mare for $1600 his wisdom was fully sustained. Run of Luck was one of the mares he picked up cheap, but it took $5000 to lead her out of the sale ring last Tuesday, and such a good judge as Tom Welch, acting for Miller, Bishop & Paynter, was a keen contender for her. Accountant, Monador and Performance, three mares Captain Brown picked from his racing stable for stud matrons, again illustrate his good judgment, as the former American Oaks winner sold for $12,000, Monador fetched $5000 and Performance, the turf, brought only $300.

Jim Corbett Tells of Incident Six
Years Ago in Minnesota
Town.

Because of the prevalent talk of Battling Nelson's butting tactics, a story Jim Corbett tells of the only time Bat ever got his medicine for fighting that way is well worth telling.

"About six years ago, or maybe less, there was a mining town up in the Northwest, Hurley, that had the fighting fever," says Jim. "Nearly every miner thought he was a scrapper, until finally a little fellow from Wales appeared on the scene, and in a sort of rough-and-tumble way whipped the tar out of every one in the neighborhood, including three dub fighters that had been developed."

"The newcomer weighed in the neighborhood of 115 pounds, but he was the toughest nut for his size that had ever been seen in that region. He knew something about handling his mitts, but his long shot was any old way, his opponent wanted to go after him, especially when biring was included."

"The Hurley champion was soon known in the districts near the town, and on two occasions he got mixed up with 200-pounders in saloon scraps, and he made them look like humbug beings that had just emerged from a mine explosion."

"There happened to be a local lodge of Eagles in Hurley that wanted to arrange a fight, and more from the want of another man than anything else, they fixed a frame-up and sent to Chicago for Battling Nelson, who was to appear under an assumed name."

"At last the Hurley champion, upon whom all the miners would lay their money, was to meet his superior. He was known as the man who could whip his weight in wildcats, but what would his chance be against a man like Nelson?"

"Well, the Battler came, as the story goes, and there was considerable betting. The Hurley champion didn't know a whole lot about the Marquis of Queensbury rules, but he could

DEAN HUMPHREY BUILDING
On Thirteenth Street Between Washington and Clay, Just Completed.

FOUR POINTS OF OAKLAND SHOW REMARKABLE BUILDING ACTIVITY

Factories Dot the West, Many Homes Are Being Built in the North, and Southern and Eastern Portions Are Lively.

The great showing which is being made every week by THE TRIBUNE in the matter of the upbuilding of this city cannot readily be appreciated by people who come here as strangers, and especially if they are inclined to place credence in the many prejudiced statements which have been published in communities which are jealous of the manner in which Oakland has beaten them in the race for metropolitan supremacy.

At the same time, there are people who have resided here for many years who know but little more on this subject than even some of the strangers referred to.

This is especially true of those individuals who have not taken the trouble to make a tour of the city and see for themselves the progress which is everywhere apparent.

IN THE WEST.

If one travels in the western part of the city he will find that factories and warehouses either in course of construction or else giving evidence of having been but recently completed. There is about them an air of activity and bustle which denotes industries in full operation and which give employment to people who formerly were engaged on the other side of the bay.

IN THE NORTH.

In some of the northern sections of the city one may see from fifty to 100 homes in course of construction, and a number of wagons, on any day of the week, delivering material for the raising of more new homes for the newcomers in our midst.

In the eastern part of the city, and even in the northeastern part as far north as Upper Fruitvale, tracts containing hundreds of lots have been laid out within a remarkably short space of time, and steps are being taken for the purpose of putting still more tracts on the market.

Further to the south the same activity is noticeable and extends easterly for several miles along the Fourth and also along the San Leandro road for even a greater distance.

HIVES OF INDUSTRY.

In the vicinity of the estuary and the tidal canal, what was, a few months ago, a vacant space which was not utilized even for grazing purposes, is now practically covered with factories, the number of which is constantly increasing. These industries give employment to hundreds of skilled mechanics who were formerly employed in San Francisco.

A number of these factories had bought ground here before the fire and several of them also had already commenced the construction of their buildings before the trouble took place on the other side, thus showing that, months ago, these people recognized the opportunity of Oakland as a place for the establishment and the development of factories, which had an output which was in demand in this section and along the Pacific Coast.

NEW SETTLEMENTS.

To the east of these hives of industry little settlements have grown up and are constantly increasing in population and the completeness with which the residents are furnishing their homes. The majority of these people have come to reside here within a few months and are delighted with the climate, the surroundings and the opportunity which is afforded them of making a home and of educating and rearing their children in a modern civilized manner.

WORK DAY AND NIGHT.

There is another feature of this center of industry, and that is that those factories have all the work which is possible for them to do. They have orders many months ahead, and the only difficulty which they have to contend with is the scarcity of labor. The employers are unable to get all the men whom they are willing to put to work. For the purpose of trying to give satisfaction to their patrons they are compelled to run their works not only at night, but also on Sunday. For the night work they pay their hands at a rate-and-a-half and for the Sunday work they pay double time, and still they are waiting to get a larger quota of skilled help.

Still further to the west there is an almost unbroken line of other industries, including drain pipe manufacturers, planing mills, foundries, pattern shops, lumber yards and warehouses, the number of which will amaze the resident who has not paid a visit to that section for a few months past.

All this indicates that this city is growing in a manner which is equalled by no other city on the coast, and the growth is of such encouraging character that there need be no fear of the future.

L. G. BRATTIN.

CHURCHILL AS A FIREBRAND.

The recent slumping of the State of New Hampshire by Winston Churchill, serious as it was, was not without its humorous sides at times, and the author now looks back with a good deal of amusement at some of the incidents which marked his journey.

It was in Keene, in the southwest corner of the State, early in August, that perhaps the funniest incident of the campaign occurred. Churchill was just opening his speech. Referring to the derogatory statements concerning himself and associates made by the opposition, he said:

"They have called us firebrands, firebrands going about the State to start a conflagration."

Just then there was a commotion in the middle of the hall, people rose hastily and suddenly an unkempt form wreathed in flames dashed down the middle aisle and out the door, yelling loudly: "Fire! Fire!"

It seems a spectator on entering the hall had hastily shoved a lighted pipe into his pocket, and his clothing had taken fire.

When the audience had composed themselves and their minds were brought back to the last words of the speaker, the aptness of the incident burst upon them, and there was a loud roar of laughter.

It was several minutes before Churchill could make himself heard, and when he did he said:

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, the opposition have made some pretty hard statements against us, but I am glad that in one instance even it can be shown that they have been able to tell the truth."—Boston Herald.

REALTY EXPERT PAYS ATTENTION TO BROADWAY

The Sale of the Blake and Moffitt Property Develops Big Market.

John Aubrey Jones, who has been conducting large financial deals in San Francisco and other cities, and who is now added to the organization of George W. Austin, has been giving special attention to property on Broadway.

Mr. Jones said yesterday: "If proof had been lacking that Oakland has entered upon an era of substantial growth and progress, it was supplied by the sale of the Blake & Moffitt property, on the east side of Broadway, extending from Ninth to Tenth streets, at a price exceeding $1500 per front foot, 200 years this property has been regarded as practically dead. There was no sale for it, and its renting value was nominal. In fact, within the past six months this property might have been bought for $1000 per front foot. But none thought enough of it as an investment, either from a standpoint of speculation or for permanent income, to pay that price. All at once, under the stimulus of the activity characterizing the realty market and the increased demand for stores, and consequently marked advance in rentals, this piece of Broadway property that has been considered as a piece of dead property, is now a good buy at about $1750 per front foot, and this, mind you, for the land alone, as the improvements are counted in."

"The purchase of this holding has been made by shrewd, sagacious, successful business men, who are thoroughly conversant in securing it, as they expect to realize a handsome return on their investment when they shall have added to the extension of the Grand street ten modern class A buildings containing stores and offices."

"Only the most optimistic as to Oakland's future, as a growing, prosperous commercial city would figure on getting satisfactory interest from rentals on an investment in this location on Broadway, aggregating three-quarters of a million dollars."

"The moral of the situation is, now is the time to make money by investing in Oakland realty, especially that which is situated in the present and prospective business center."

In addition to the instance cited, showing phenomenal advance in value is the case of a few months, may be mentioned the fact that another piece on Broadway, in the near vicinity of the Blake & Moffitt holding, was bought a few months ago for a figure in the neighborhood of $15,000. For this, the present owner has received during the past ten days $250,000.

"Again: A corner on Tenth and Franklin streets, that would not have been marketable ten months ago at $50,000, is now considered a good buy at $150,000. In fact, if the owner would consent to sell for that price, a buyer could be readily found. When on Washington street, a corner of Tenth, which was considered badly 'on color' as a safe investment, because of the uncertainty of revenue to be derived which would pay better than savings bank interest, and which, on this account, have made this holding a 'drug on the market' at $1000 per front foot, has within the past six weeks been sold at a figure more than one-third in excess of $1000 per front foot."

"And, best of all, for the interest of Oakland's people and the progressive nature of the city, the thoroughfare, among the business men and capitalists are the ones who have secured these holdings at the advanced value, and they feel that they have increased their own wealth."

"The conclusion to which all fair-minded and wide-awake persons must come, when reviewing these facts, is that Oakland is now 'coming to her own,' and a great era of progressiveness is before her."

BERKELEY MARKET IS KEENEST ON RECORD

300 Lots in the San Pablo Park Are Sold During the Course of One Day.

BERKELEY, Dec. 7.—Though there has been no 'boom' prices, the real estate market in Berkeley has never been as keen as at the present time. The largest subdivision sale of lots in Alameda county in one day was the disposal by the Mason-McDuffie Company recently, of 300 lots in San Pablo park in West Berkeley for over a quarter of a million dollars.

The new street car franchise that have been granted by the Town Trustees are bound to have a wholesome effect upon the real estate market.

They will open up several new business districts and extend others. The new street car line, which the Claymont hotel will cause a rapid rise in business property near Ashby station. A retail business district similar to that at Alcatraz avenue and Adeline street and at Lorin station will be a direct result. The value of property in North Berkeley will be greatly enhanced by the extension of the Grand street line northward to the town line.

There has been a very active demand lately for property for houses and factory sites along the Southern Pacific tracks in West Berkeley.

Every available piece of property within reasonable distances of the railroad has already been bid for. During the last week there has been heavy sales made of lots suitable for residence sites in the Claremont, Oak and the Berry & Bangs tracts.

The new factory of the Plaster Knitting Company, located at the corner of Seventh and Parker streets, in South Berkeley, has just been completed, and is now in operation. The building is two stories in height and is well lighted by fifteen windows on each side of the building. The basement is being used for storing a large stock of yarn; the first floor has the knitting machines; the second floor contains the machines used for finishing off garments. D. Halliday erected the factory building, and also a handsome story and a half residence for J. J. Plaster, the proprietor of the factory, which is located east of the factory building. The factory is employing twenty-five persons this week, but in the near future the number of employees will be increased to 100.

At present there are thirty-two machines of the latest and most improved type, in use on the first floor, and eighteen on the second floor. Fifteen new machines will be obtained in the near future.

NEWS FROM BERKELEY AND CITY OF ALAMEDA

STUDENTS ARE DEEP IN DEBT

U. of C. Association Finds Itself Away on the Wrong Side of the Ledger.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—The Associated Students of the University of California find themselves $11,000 in debt at the close of this college term. The athletic committee will be compelled to resort to heroic measures during the next twelve months to wipe out this big deficit in the treasury of the association. This debt was reported by Manager Ollie Shedd at a meeting of the students last night. It exists despite the fact that Berkeley's share from the profits of the big football game was $17,500.

In round figures the liabilities of the students amount to $25,000 while the assets are $8,000. One of the big expenses this term was the widening of California field to fit the Rugby rules. This alone cost $10,000. The debt of the students is secured by the personal note of the members of the executive committee.

COMBINING IMPROVEMENT CLUBS ADVOCATED

ALAMEDA, Dec. 8.—The combining of the three improvement clubs of this city into one body is advocated by the West End Improvement Club. The other clubs are the Central and the North Side. It is believed that the combination of the clubs would be able to do more for the city than the clubs working on different lines. The matter is to be brought before the members of the various clubs at a meeting which is soon to be held.

WILL CONTEST FOR PLACES IN ANNUAL

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Editor Harrison of the Blue and Gold has announced that the art contests for the annual will close the first week of next term. A trip to Yosemite will be given for the best design for the title page, and a trip to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado for the best cartoon.

FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT IS MADE AT SOCIAL FUNCTION YESTERDAY

This Wedding Promises to Be

The Brilliant Social Event of Season

MISS ALICE S. LINGARD, whose engagement is announced.

Society Is Notified of the Fact That Miss Alice S. Lingard Will Wed Charles E. Roberson in the Near Future.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—An open secret was formally given out yesterday when the engagement was announced of Miss Alice S. Lingard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lingard, of 1334 Addison street, to Charles E. Roberson Jr., son of a South Berkeley merchant.

The occasion was a tea given at the home of the girl's parents. Miss Lingard has many friends among the younger set of Berkeley society. Her sweet voice and charming personality have always assured her a welcome at the most exclusive functions in the college town. Young Roberson is a former student of the dental department of the Affiliated Colleges. He gave up the study of dental surgery to enter business with his father. The marriage will take place some time in April.

CRAZY NEGRO RUNS AMUCK

Greenville Has Visitation of Maddened Negro Who Kills Four Before Captured.

GREENVILLE, Miss., Dec. 8.—A negro yesterday killed four persons and injured three others. He finally was captured. Great excitement prevails. The negro first killed a negro woman, and when a policeman went to arrest him he shot and wounded the officer. The negro then barricaded himself in a house, and in the attempt to arrest him he killed two more negroes and one white man and shot and wounded Captain Quinn and Assistant Clerk Abercrombie.

CAN IDENTIFY THE ROBBERS

Mrs. W. Groom is Confident That She Knows Her Assailant.

Notwithstanding the fact that her eyes were blinded and smothering with pain from the red pepper thrown in her face by a robber, Mrs. Walter Groom, of Crockett, is confident that she will be able to identify the dastard who choked her and robbed her of $300. The woman gives a fairly good description of the man who attacked her in the dimly lighted hotel corridor. She says his face was thin and that he had grayish side whiskers, and that he appeared to be about forty years of age. She believes the man is a waiter, formerly employed in the hotel.

THREE TINY RUNAWAYS

Are Found Asleep in a Phaeton —They Had Started for Petaluma.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Three little runaways from a refuge, camp in San Francisco were found asleep in a phaeton here yesterday. The wandering trinity was taken in charge by the police. They declare they were on their way to Petaluma and intended to drive by day and sleep at night.

The runaways, none of whom is yet 15 years old, were found in a phaeton which had been missing from Oakland since yesterday.

The police officer recognized the team, which was tied to a tree across the street, and in searching the vehicle found the runaways.

They gave their names as Isadore Kestelne, Celestine Thur and Roy Smith.

ELECTED AFTER A HOT CONTEST

ALAMEDA, Dec. 8.—After a hot contest for offices the Knights of the Maccabees have elected the following officers: Past commander, S. Winkler; commander, Dr. J. A. La Jeunesse; lieutenant commander, J. F. Barber; record keeper, J. J. Hauser; finance keeper, H. A. Bissman; chaplain, L. Hendrickson; sergeant, C. H. Hore; first master of guards, A. Hendrickson; second master of guards, A. Peterson; master-at-arms, A. Chasler; sentinel, E. Eckenberger; picket, J. Bime.

UNTOLD INJURY

To Oakland People As It Is Elsewhere Throughout the Land.

Neglecting a bad back. Not trying to reach the cause. Brings untold injury to the human system.

Following in the wake of backache are urinary disorders, diabetes, Bright's disease.

Let an Oakland citizen tell of an Oakland cure:

J. J. Lawrence, of 180 Seventh street, Oakland, Cal., says: "If you wish, you may use my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, because I know they are very effective and have done me much good. My trouble was a lameness and pain across the small of my back which had annoyed me for about two years. I was first attacked by the trouble when I was down in Euclid looking after some minding interests. The first box did me so much good that I continued using the remedy until I was completely relieved. Every kidney sufferer should know about Doan's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other."

ALAMEDA, Dec. 8.—The Alameda Rebecca Lodge is to give a whist party on the evening of December 18th, at 11 O. C. hall. There are a large number of handsome prizes to be awarded the winners.

PROFESSOR ON RIGHTS OF JAPS

Head of Department of Jurisprudence Declares California Is Within Rights.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Professor William Carey Jones, head of the department of jurisprudence of the State University, an eminent lawyer and at one time deemed the most likely successor to President Kellogg as the head of the University of California, declares that California has the right to regulate Japanese attendance at the public schools. In a statement he said today:

"While I do not regard the most important question raised by the President to be the legal one of the power of the state to segregate the races in the public schools, that is the only one which I shall undertake to write upon, as to the legal question, that seems to have three aspects:

1. Whether California has a right under existing circumstances, leaving out of consideration any special occasion, to require attendance of different races in separate schools.

2. Whether the state would have that right if the Japanese were given the right of naturalization and actually became naturalized.

3. Whether a treaty could be so framed as to preclude the state from requiring attendance at separate schools."

It has been held in a number of decisions in state courts, including Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois and California, that state legislation providing for separate schools for whites and negroes was constitutional and entirely within the province of state action. The contention against such legislation was that it was in violation of the fourteenth amendment, especially the clause that no state shall "deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The clause of the fourteenth amendment which says that "no state shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States" cannot be evoked. It is not a privilege of Federal citizenship, and not being a Federal right, cannot, as such, come under the protection of the amendment. The question turns upon the word "equal." And it has been decided again and again that "equal" does not mean "identical." It does not mean that white and colored persons must be taught in the same schools.

The Supreme Court of the United States in the analogous question of a state statute requiring white and colored persons to ride in separate railroad cars, where equal accommodation is provided, has upheld state legislation.

This was decided in the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson (163 U. S. 537). Mr. Justice Harlan alone dissenting. And the same court, in the case of Cumming vs. Board of Education (175 U. S. 528), Mr. Justice Harlan writing the opinion and no justice dissenting, has held that a decision by a state court refusing an injunction against the maintenance of a high school for white children, while temporarily failing to maintain one for colored children also, for the reason that the funds were not sufficient to maintain such colored high school in addition to the primary school for colored children, was not a denial to colored persons of the equal protection of the laws, or of any of the privileges belonging to them as citizens of the United States. Mr. Justice Harlan says: "It is to be noted that while all admit that the benefits and burdens of public taxation must be shared by citizens without discrimination against any class on account of their race, the education of the people in schools maintained by state taxation is a matter belonging to the respective states and any interference on the part of Federal authority with the management of such schools cannot be justified except in the case of a clear and unmistakable disregard of rights secured by the supreme law of the land."

This disposes of both the first and second aspects of the question. As to the third point, namely, the power to alter this situation by treaty provisions, so far as the rights of the state under the constitution are concerned, a treaty has no greater power to affect them than an act of Congress. Both treaties and Federal laws can be enacted only in pursuance of the constitution. The constitution says that laws made in pursuance of the constitution and treaties made under the authority of the constitution are to the states.

If the fourteenth amendment does not authorize Congress to legislate over schools and other matters reserved to the states, no more does it authorize the treaty-making power to do so. Hence, if California is legally right in providing separate schools for different races, as uniform judicial authority says it is, then this legal right cannot be taken from it, either by opening the doors of naturalization or by treaty stipulations.

SALVATION ARMY CHRISTMAS DINNER

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—The Salvation Army is planning to give a Christmas dinner to the poor of Berkeley, and the citizens are requested to assist in this work. That the project may be successful, Captain Cameron, who for a long time had charge of the local corps and was very prominent among the people, has been detailed to have full charge of the project. He will be assisted by some of the women connected with the Army, and great pains will be taken to see that no poor and deserving person or family goes without a bounteous meal on that sacred day.

A postal card can be dropped in the postoffice directed to Captain Cameron, Salvation Army, from any person who wishes to help in this good work.

WILL MOVE FROM OLD LOCATION

ALAMEDA, Dec. 8.—After being located at the corner of Park street and Euclid avenue for ten years, the Park Hotel Pharmacy is to move to the opposite corner, where the proprietor, C. H. Weaver, has lately purchased. The present location is to be used by Dean Brothers to enlarge on the case of the hotel.

HOLD FIRST RECEPTION

MISS HELEN LLOYD, member of Cotillion Club.

Hillside Cotillion Club Have One of the Season's Successes in Their Assembly Last Night.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—One of the most successful of a series of three assemblies given by the members of the Hillside Cotillion was a reception and dance by that exclusive organization of young society people last evening at the artistic Hillside clubhouse at the corner of Arch and Cedar streets. Thirty couples enjoyed the evening's festivities. The use in profusion of red Christmas berries, bamboo and mistletoe, intermingled with huckleberry branches and ferns, transformed the appearance of the interior. Little red Japanese lanterns covered the electric light globes, and everywhere stretched festoons of red crepe paper.

Several waltzes and two-steps were followed by the German and two figures, led by Miss Edna Orr and Coleridge Ertz. Favors of the dance were flags, fans, balloons, horns and bells.

Dainty refreshments were served on the large porch. All the young ladies of the club assisted in receiving, while Miss Cornelia Williams was chairman of the refreshment committee. Miss Alice Phillips was chairman of the decorating committee and assisting her were Misses Mariana Mathews, Margaret Griffith, Susan Ertz, Hazel Hobson, Louise Berryman, Helen Lloyd and Miss Hunt.

Following are the patronesses: Messrs. James Earl Webb, Oscar Maurer, Elton Carlsile, F. E. Farrington, Lorrin H. Bricker, James Pierce and John Galen Howard.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—The North Berkeley Improvement Club has taken initial steps to formulate a campaign to change the names of certain streets in Oakland and Berkeley to prevent confusion.

NEW SITE IS PURCHASED

Congregation of Shattuck Ave. Methodist Will Start Building Immediately.

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—Since use could not be made of a lot purchased at Sixty-third and Dover streets because of a decision of Judge Ogden to the effect that the terms of the deed provided for nothing but the erection of a private residence on the lot, the congregation of the Shattuck Avenue Methodist church has purchased a new site from N. Whitham on the corner of Sixty-third street and Shattuck avenue. Within a few weeks the building will be in course of construction. The edifice will be even larger than was originally intended, and the main auditorium will seat 350 while the interior will be so arranged that the League rooms can be thrown open and add seating capacity for nearly 500 more. Rev. A. G. Kennedy, pastor of the church, has urged his congregation to go ahead with the building on the new site and the lot where building had been commenced will either be sold or used as the site of a parsonage. The trustees have not yet agreed what disposition will be made of the extra lot.

Mrs. Rose Potier brought suit some weeks ago to prevent the congregation from using its building for church purposes. She claimed that she had disposed of the land under a five-year building restriction that no building other than a dwelling to cost not less than $1800 be put up. In the building of a church, she declared, the contract had been violated. The congregation alleged on the other hand that the structure was being used partially as a dwelling, and hence came within the restriction. The court's decision was favorable to Mrs. Potier.

At the time this decision was rendered over $1700 worth of work had been done on the new building site, which will be a dead loss.

When the new building is completed it will be known as the Hamilton M. E. Church.

ENGLISH CLUB ELECT THEIR EDITORS

BERKELEY, Dec. 8.—John D. Fletcher was elected editor and Rossiter Mikel manager of the Occident-Magazine at a meeting of the English Club of the University this afternoon. The Occident-Magazine is the bi-monthly literary publication of the students. The new editor is a member of the senior class, while Mikel is a junior.

Guaranteed Liquor Cure

We would not under any circumstances endorse a remedy for the cure of the drink habit until we had absolutely satisfied ourselves that it did all it claimed. Orline is the only cure for the drink habit that we ever knew of, that had enough merit to be sold under a positive guarantee. It is the only one who wished to cure. It has stood the test of years of use, and we know of many whom it has cured of the drink habit.

The guarantee given with each package thoroughly protects the buyer. Orline is in two forms: No. 1 for secret use, and No. 2 for those who wished to be cured. $1 a box. Mail orders filled. The Orline Co., Washington, D. C., or Owl Drug Co., 15th and Broadway.

GIRLS IN LOVE ARE VERY UNREASONABLE, SHE SAYS

A Correspondent Tells of the Joys and Tribulations Incident to the Divine Passion.

BY CHERRE DAVIS.

A girl in love! Oh, my! There never lived a man who could interpret correctly all the consistently inconsistent ways of a girl in love. If she were put in a class all by herself, then surely there would be a faint chance of the remaining lot of femininity being termed sensible and practical—but as long as no division is made we are hopeless of being dignified with anything nearly so nice as those two adjectives.

To the working girl, love is sometimes a delightful deliciousness, and sometimes, on the contrary, it only looks good in print to her. Before she is old enough to know what love is she has, perhaps, read love tales by the score and has made up her mind as to just exactly what variety of the masculine gender she would choose. And the difference in her ideal and the real is so big that she cannot see it. Then later in life she wakes up to the fact that the entire circle of men she is acquainted with has some other mission in life except to stand in line while she makes her choice.

Most girls in love are either angels or fools—but the former predominate, fortunately. Love almost transforms some girls into being sweet who otherwise would be—well, it wouldn't be charitable to say what they might be—and it makes the whole world brighter to their eyes. They are truly anxious to work—and such a condition of mind is possible—because their work is a means to an end, to be able to have pretty clothes, and pretty clothes for a girl, although they often make her future protector and financier think twice of his salary, do help wonderfully in making her attractive. When a girl once decides that there is a one and only man, in this world for her she promptly begins to have troubles and tribulations, and these do not cease until she is married to this "best of all" men. Then perhaps she begins to know the meaning of the word trouble.

What spoils love pure and simple is jealousy. To call it a green-eyed monster is putting it very mildly, considering the havoc and down-right misery it creates. And jealousy, after all, is such a useless thing, for don't you understand that a man who does not love purely is not worth being jealous of? And if he does love you and you only, where is the cause for jealousy? If a man cannot make you happy by giving you his whole heart, would you be jealous of another girl who is no happier in the possession of only another portion of that uncontrollable organ? Or would you envy a girl who attracted your lover's attention when you must know that such attraction is only passing and that you possess his love? When a man goes half way in disposing of his heart he will find that no girl cares for remnants except at a bargain sale. He merely cheapens what he offers.

The hardest thing for a girl in love to do is to be reasonable. With some people the old expression that love is blind ought to be turned to read that love makes a detective agency out of the smitten one. If you should see the choice of your heart talking to another girl, don't hunt up all the jealousy in your nature and then make the boy suffer by a dose of cool treatment. Hold your own fairly, but don't fly into anger over it. That will not make you more charming in his eyes. On the other hand, it is sad to behold the manner in which some girls try to engage the attention of boys. A "boy-crazy" girl is disliked by both girls and boys, and, like Burns' lines, were there some power the gift to give her to see herself as others see her, she would change her attitude of devotion.

At the doubtful age of 16, when a girl is too aged in her own estimation to be called a child, and yet too much of an infant for society, she is ready to fall in love, heart and soul, with the first stylish suit of clothes, stunning cravat and cut links which appear on her horizon of romance—in other words, the important qualifications for her hero consist of outward appearance. At the age of 20 she just begins to distinguish good from bad in a man, regardless of material possessions, and at 23 or 24, after experiencing heartbreaking calamities in refusing a few boyish proposals, she at last chooses the man for his own worth. Sometimes she makes a mistake, but more often she is happy in her selection. The harmoniously matched couples prove her dreams, but the mismatched couples—no volume can tell why they chose one another.

Girls in love have great difficulty in concentrating their minds upon the work they have to do, and therefore the best business girls are not those who contemplate matrimony. Thoughts of love do lead an enchantment to one's ordinary existence, and it splices things a bit to be kept in doubt as to whether "he loves me, he loves me not."

Talking love seriously, girls, don't be perfectly foolish over your affairs of the heart. You miss a world of happiness if you set your standard by money, dress or appearance, and besides you discourage Dan Cupid. Look for the man and not only for what goes with him. Don't make mountains out of nothing, and don't rush into matrimony without knowing what is ahead of it.

The majority of your men acquaintances, I take it, are not fabulously wealthy, nor do they possess the means of supporting you much better than you now support yourselves. Therefore, don't sigh for the impossible, but encourage the boys in their struggle. They do not have all sunshine in their work any more than you do, and a little petting now and then is relished by the best of men.

There is no use trying to make a girl in love look and act sensibly, so you are forgiven, beloved ones, for certain offenses in the way of raving over characteristics in your beau ideal which no one else can discover, or for insisting that there are not five more men like him living. We often hear some one exclaim, "What could she see in him?" when a new engagement is announced. But she did see something in him which another girl was not clever enough to locate, and loved him for it. And it is mighty lucky, too, that we do not all discover the same lovable traits in men, for im-

DID NOT GET THE MAN SHE BOUGHT

HE TAKES WIDOW'S COIN FOR HIS HONEYMOON WITH ANOTHER.

Deserted Fair One Declares She Will Spoil the Couple's Happiness.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 8.—"I paid $680 to get that man for my husband, and then I did not get him. He took my money and married another woman. This is a wedding trip he is making now, and every cent he spends is my money, but he is not having much satisfaction out of it, as I am following him every step, and I never lose a chance to tell people about it."

Mrs. Clara E. Grant, of Sheldon, Ia., was the speaker, and she was addressing the matron at the Union Depot.

"I am now a widow," continued Mrs. Grant. "My husband has been dead for seven years. About a year ago I met Arthur Case."

"He paid court to me, and although I did not think much of him, I decided to marry him. I was lonely. He told me how he had been married when very young, that his wife had deserted him, and he did not have money enough to get a divorce. If I would advance the money to him he would fix things so he would be free to marry me."

"I advanced the money. He came to me one day and told me that his decree had just been signed and he asked that I let him have $500 with which to get married. I let him have it."

"Within five hours he was married to that woman and they started on a trip with my money. I heard about the wedding and followed that night. They have been two days getting as far as Kansas City, trying to dodge me."

Mrs. Grant took the "Frisco" train for the south following, the couple, who had tickets for New Orleans.

agreed the hair pullings and tearful scenes among the girls.

Despite the expression that all is fair in love and war, there is a chance for more honor in a girl being brought to light in the game of love than anywhere else. To love honorably, she must trust implicitly the man she would accept, and petty doubts and jealousies are not worthy of her—but who can reason with a girl in love? If love is blind, don't let it blind you to faults, but rather to love's unreasonableness.

A maid in love is to be sympathized with and envied in the same breath—and who does not love her for being in love?

NOT YET FIFTEEN SHE SEEKS A DIVORCE

MEMPHIS, Dec. 8.—Hope Hopkins (nee Brown), aged fourteen, a pupil in the Jefferson-street school, has filed petition for divorce. According to the News-Scimitar she was married on the Memphis side of the Mississippi river bridge and lived with her husband one week. Her petition states that she will be fifteen years old December 24, and that she lived with her aunt, Miss E. A. Perry, at whose home, No. 171 North Second street, Leslie Hopkins boarded.

Hopkins paid her considerable attention, she avers, and asked her to marry him early in September. Hopkins, it is said, went to Marion, Crittenden county, Ark., and secured a marriage license. On Sunday, September 23, Hopkins, it is asserted, took Hope for a walk, and exhibiting her marriage license told of the arrangements he had made. The pair went to the bridge across the Mississippi river and there were married by Justice J. J. Hogue, of Crittenden county, Ark. Upon the advice of Hopkins, so Hope avers, she returned home and did not tell her relatives of her marriage. She went to school as usual on the following day.

Tuesday afternoon following, the petition recites, Hopkins took Hope to the home of his father. Up to this point, the child petitioner says, she had treated the entire matter as a huge joke, but then came to a realization of the situation, and Saturday following the marriage, left her husband and returned to her aunt.

She asserts that since that date she has had nothing to do with Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins asks for a decree of absolute divorce and the restoration of her former name, Hope Brown.

WEALTHY GIRLS LEAD SIMPLE LIFE

GRANDDAUGHTERS OF OIL MAGNATE STUDY AND TRAVEL.

Early to Bed and Late to Rise and No Theaters Their Motto.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 8.—The simple life is led by the two richest girls in Cincinnati, and they enjoy it, too, according to their governess. The young misses are Laura and Helena Stallo, daughters of Edmund K. Stallo, and granddaughters of Cincinnati's richest man, Alexander McDonald, a director in the Standard Oil Company. Miss Laura is sixteen, while Helena is not quite fifteen. Both girls are handsome brunettes, of medium height, well built and in robust health. The governess lays this to their manner of living.

For years both girls have gone to bed at 9 p. m., and they breakfast at eight with the regularity of clockwork. Thus far there has been no dissipation, no late hours, no theater parties, no clubs.

The morning hours are spent in study and both are kept busy. The governess instructs in many branches, while special teachers are employed for music and language.

As for music, Laura shows a decided talent; more so than Helena. Both play the piano and both play the mandolin and guitar, but Helena naturally takes to the guitar while Laura is skilled on the mandolin. The instructor on these two instruments is a colored man of this city, Professor Dabney. Professor Glover, a rather noted pianist, instructs upon his instrument, and each girl has her own piano. As for vocal lessons, neither takes to them, but later on they may, the doting grandfather hopes.

According to the governess, neither girl has any choice in selecting studies. Their course is rigidly laid out and closely adhered to. No deviation is allowed and the entire morning is devoted to hard study as is most of the afternoon.

Languages have engaged considerable of the time of the Stallo girls. Italian they studied in Italy under native teachers. French was studied in Paris and German in Germany. This plan of pursuing the languages in the native countries has proven highly successful and both girls speak the three foreign languages fluently although they still have special instructors to help them and to keep them up to the times.

MEN MAY SUCCEED THE WOMEN IN THE KITCHEN

A Correspondent Tells of the Difficulties of Keeping the Women Servants.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

The only women in America who are altogether independent and who survey the domestic problem with indifference are the women who do their own work. Manifestly, with the number of affairs that crowd on the time and tax the strength of the house mistress she must be a woman of extraordinary vigor of body and system of management who can successfully do this.

In our country very few people maintain a large establishment. Of course, there are wealthy persons who are able to keep and pay a staff of trained workers indoors and out, and while they have their own peculiar trials the domestic problem does not touch them so closely as it must the majority.

A woman of my acquaintance is never able to carry on her splendid establishment without at least ten servants. Several years ago in making arrangements to rent a country house for the summer, she found it very difficult to obtain a mansion at once commodious for the family and its retainers. One landlord facetiously wrote that unless the servants could sleep on the roof he did not know where his correspondent could secure accommodations for them in his neighborhood.

An invalid of large wealth advertised for a housekeeper accustomed to the ordering of a great household. She was presently confronted with the fact that while many women understood how to direct the movements of two or three servants, not one in a dozen of her applicants had the faintest idea what to do when the question was of controlling what seemed to them an army corps.

Mrs. Russell Sage, whose gentle dignity and serene philosophy have been conspicuous for many years, is one of those American matrons to whom the servant question has never presented aspects of difficulty. She has known how to attach to herself and retain for successive years the people she has employed. This has not been because she has felt timid or embarrassed in the presence of delinquent servants. She has never accepted slovenly service and has found fault when it was necessary, but nevertheless her perfect housekeeping has been carried forward without a hitch, both in town and country, and coachman and cook have alike stayed with her and respected her authority.

Several reasons combine to render the domestic problem a troublesome one at this period. It is not too much to say that three-fourths of our cultured American women have very little practical knowledge of housework. Unless a woman knows how to perform the duties she requires of subordinates or at least comprehends enough of their nature to be just and fair in her dealings, she will be so fearful of giving them too much to do that she will allow her work to be neglected and will spoil her servants by over-indulgence.

A good step in the right direction is evident in the manual training that now forms part of every-day education for girls in the public schools. If, for example, women knew by actual contact how much is taken out of vitality by the laundering of the dainty and elaborate white frocks and petticoats that have been so fashionable of late, they would limit the number of those articles in the weekly wash.

No woman who has washed and ironed a tucked, frilled and deeply embroidered gown, giving to it the patience, time and skill required, will expect that another woman can wash and iron three or four such costumes in a single day.

On the other hand, a woman who has no actual experience of housework exaggerates its details and looks upon quite ordinary affairs of routine as if they were hardships. Servants who have been a few months with her degenerate under her lax hand and, in going to another home, advertise her incompetence.

Setting aside this phase, the present situation is complicated by conditions in the business world. Factories abound and they offer opportunities to the class who once found employment in American kitchens. Regarded from the standpoint of respectability, and this consideration is important in the eyes of working women, the kitchen certainly holds its own in comparison with the factory.

Yet, most young girls prefer to be factory operatives rather than domestic servants. The word servant is odious in the ears of thousands of young women. To them it is a badge of shame. They would infinitely prefer harder work and longer hours without this stigma, than shorter hours and easier work with it. When a few years ago, intelligence offices were thronged by Irish and German girls who were tolerably efficient and who could receive orders and carry them out, the material now ready for the housekeeper's manipulation, so crude and raw in the extreme? Poles, Russians, Hungarians, Syrians, most of them unable to speak English, are the applicants, and even they ask munificent wages while ingenuously confessing that they know nothing of work, although they profess to be willing to learn. As soon as taught they depart to seek another place and higher wages. "Wages is riz," they say with a childlike and bland expression, smiling into the faces of their despairing employers.

It really begins to look as if the hope of the American housewife would soon be the introduction of men into the kitchen in place of women. The latter are so crowding every avenue of business, so filling niches in shops and berths in mills and factories, that men are forced out of places that used to be theirs. A quick-witted Frenchman, a soft-voiced negro, a dethroned Japanese, a thorough and careful Chinese, each in his own degree proves a wonderful comfort to a storm-tossed housekeeper, weary and worn with her battle and desperate because she can find no woman willing to stay with her and contentedly assume the duties of maid-of-all-work.

As a rule, a man goes home at night and returns in the morning. This does away with one source of anxiety and confusion, the evening at home or abroad which forms a theme of endless discussion between mistress and maid. The newer practice leaves the maid free to pass her evening as she chooses, but old-fashioned housekeepers cling stubbornly to the allotted evening out and foolishly forget that the maid in the kitchen has the same social needs that the daughter of the house has, that she longs to meet and talk with her own people, and that work should end at an appointed hour. A man has a way of cutting this Gordian knot. He gets his work done and he goes to his own home as any other laborer would at the end of his day.

Yet, there are clouds even on this horizon. The Japanese man servant, who is almost ideal in quickness and capacity, is restless and always anxious to move on. One never feels sure that her perfect servant will not politely give warning at a most inconvenient hour. The Chinese are subtle and do not form friendly attachments with ease. The negroes have spasms of indolence and are also supposed to be light-fingered, although there are many shining exceptions.

The day of ease in the domestic relations of American housekeepers has not yet arrived. Could we return to the simplicity of our grandmothers, and establishing really friendly relations, train girls from childhood up to be perfect assistants in the home, there would be greater permanence and pleasure along this line than there is at present.

ALLEGES HIS MIND IS WEAK

Contest Filed Regarding Will of William F. Boardman—Hot Fight Promised.

What promises to be a lively contested fight for the revocation of a $40,000 will was started yesterday afternoon when Frank Boardman and William F. Boardman filed a petition to have the will of the late William F. Boardman revoked. They allege that the instrument was signed when William Boardman was suffering and suffering with weak mind when they claim L. E. and Clifford Boardman and others used wrong influence to induce the old gentleman to sign the document. By the will of the former County Surveyor the following legacies were bequeathed: $4000 to L. E. Boardman, a son, $4500 to Clifford Boardman, a son, employed in the present County Surveyor's office, $2250 to Clara F. Rawson, a granddaughter, and $2250 to Walter Boardman, a grandson. The balance of the estate is divided by the will among L. E. Boardman, Clifford Boardman and Charles Boardman, sons, each of whom receives one-fourth, and Clara Rawson and Walter Boardman, each of whom receives one-eighth. Charles Boardman was formerly County Clerk in this county.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Simplified spelling received a hard blow yesterday in the legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill for 1908, reported to the House by the committee on appropriation which says: "Hereafter, in printing documents authorized by law or ordered by Congress or other branch thereof, the Government printing offices shall follow the rules of orthography established by Webster's or other generally accepted dictionaries of the English language."

SUES MANAGERS TO RECOVER DAMAGES

J. J. Hogg has filed a complaint against H. W. Bishop and Bernard P. Miller, the managers of Idora Park, suing them for $5000. He alleges in the complaint that on the 27th of last July when sailing at the park, at Idora, he was roughly, overtly by employees of the park without any apparent cause. This attack was very mortifying and humiliating to him and he was in the complaint and therefore asks the court to give him judgment against the defendant to the extent of $5000 and costs of the suit. Krause & Chapman are his attorneys.

STILL FILING CONDEMNATION SUITS

The Western Pacific filed twelve more condemnation suits for right of way along Oakland's water front. The following are defendants in the suits filed yesterday: M. D. Lutz, James P. Taylor, Susan Zeck, V. C. Ironmonger, Louis G. Carter, Oakland Dock and Warehouse Company, John W. Havens, Clarence McIntire, Elizabeth Cushman, Charlotte Brown, Gilbert Wyman and P. Kolodny.

WILL OF J. L. GENBERG WAS FILED YESTERDAY

The will of John L. Genberg was filed yesterday afternoon, and it leaves the $3000 estate to his wife, Lida M. Genberg, and if she remarries the estate will go to the two children, William and Edith Genberg.

learn, and he would do as his minor friends told him.

"In order to avoid a backing out at the last minute the Eagles assured the local man that the contest would be decided on points, and would only be for six rounds.

"Well, the night for the battle arrived, and before more minutes than Nelson had ever seen before he and the Hurley champion entered the ring.

"For the first few rounds the contest was a draw, and Nelson began getting anxious, and at the same time angry, for, to say the least, he was getting very little the best of the argument.

"In the third round Nelson started to butt the local kid, and was making it pretty warm for him, when one of the miners, who was refereeing, warned him against any rough-and-tumble tactics, for that was what the kid was good at, and it would never do to start him.

"Nelson paid no attention to the continued warnings, and kept on getting rougher with the kid, who was lighter than Bat, well, when the sixth round reached the trouble came all at once for Nelson.

"Before the referee knew what was happening the miner had backed away and laid off, his blood-spattered gloves and was after Nelson. He jumped for Batting Nelson's throat and digging his knees into the Dane's stomach, he pushed him through the ropes to the floor, and what he did to Bat as the story goes is hard to write. It took six men to separate him from the Dane, and then a physician was necessary to help matters out.

"An old friend of Nelson's told me this story, and says that it was one that Bat never tells."—Courier-Journal.

RAINEY WILL NOT QUIT TURF

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 8.—A. J. Farrell, secretary to Paul J. Rainey, the Cleveland owner who has announced the sale or lease of all his thoroughbred racers, including De Mund, to his brother, Roy Rainey, said today that it was not Rainey's intention to retire from New York turf strategies.

A new stable will be purchased, said Farrell, and Rainey will take a trip to England and France to gather the choicest blood. Farrell was sure the colors of F. J. Rainey would be seen in the East next season. De Mund and nine other horses left tonight in charge of William Garth for Charlottesville, Va., to rest till spring training time. They will start racing at Benning.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 8.—All hopes which the students of the University might have previously entertained in regard to the replacing of the American game of football in the University here at the opening of the season next fall has been struck a hard blow at the hands of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler. In the course of the address at the University meeting yesterday morning President Wheeler said: "The old intercollegiate game has been improved somewhat by the changes that have been made in the rules this year. My talks with Walter Camp and other authorities have proved that these men are not satisfied themselves as the game is now. They are for further revisions. Many of the colleges in the East are talking of introducing Rugby next year, and it still looks to me as though Rugby were the better game."

For Your Inspection

Our superb line of Fall and Winter fabrics are ready to be made up into the very latest and most correct styles. Seasons past have over and over again proved our ability to put into a garment not only expert tailoring, but to give to it that individual distinction and smartness which places the well dressed man above the common place.

NOTICE

A large deposit of limestone, within two miles of the main line of the California & Oregon Railroad and which would constitute the basis of an extensive and profitable manufactory of lime will be presented to the attention of investors upon application to the land department of the Central Pacific Railway, 72 San Pablo avenue, Oakland, William H. Mills, land agent.

MILLER DRIVES FIREBALL TO VICTORY

Gun made his feeble effort 100 yards from the wire. St. Francis ran a crackling good race and was right there, getting the place. Romane fell into the third hole.

Fifth race—Walter Miller rode another winner when he put Golden Rule over in easy fashion in the six-furlong dash. Clendenen closed stoutly and just got up to snatch the place by a head from Titus, who was ready to cry quits.

Sixth race—Stander closed favorite in the final race and, going to the front immediately, topped his field all the way. Winning easily, Joe Coyne, the second choice, ran a nice race and took place honors from the outsider Baker.

ELLIOT GIVEN AMATEUR CARD

After two weeks' controversy over the amateur status of H. R. Elliot, captain of the Oakland Hornets football club, the registration committee of the California Association Football Union handed his amateur card last evening. The question as to Elliot's standing arose from the fact of his acting as assistant Rugby coach for the University of California. It transpired, however, that he only accepted expenses for his assistance in coaching, so the committee had no option but to issue an amateur card.

JEFFRIES TO FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—James J. Jeffries last night at the Attell-Walsh fight, announced that he was willing to referee the Gans-Herman contest to be fought at Long Beach.

JOCKEYS WHO HAVE BEEN KILLED

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—In the racing year just closed in the East, but being continued on Western and Southern tracks, sixteen jockeys met death on the turf, a gruesome record and a frightful average. The record applies to racing throughout the United States and may yet be increased before the end of the year with racing going on at New Orleans, Los Angeles, Oakland and elsewhere. It is remarkable, too, that the majority of the fatalities was confined to flat racing, in view of the fact that the more hazardous branch of the sport, the steeplechase, comparatively few of the riders of the timber tappers met with death, although a number were injured. Only two riders of steeplechasers were killed in the racing year.

Several jockeys died natural deaths—old knights of the pigskin whose appearances in the saddle were few and far between in recent years.

PRETTY POLLY, GREAT MARE, MATED

LONDON, England, Dec. 8.—The mating of Pretty Polly, the greatest mare of modern times, is of almost as much interest in the turf world as the marriage of a royal princess. I understand that the owner of Pretty Polly has decided to give Pretty Polly as her first mate the sire of Galvian, one of the very best of the season two-year-olds. Scientific breeders are of the opinion that the product of this match should be one of the greatest race horses of modern times. Spearmin, winner of this year's Derby and Grand Prix de Paris, is a star mate of Pretty Polly, and Eustace Lodge, it is said, has decided to make him the consort of the queen of the turf as soon as his racing career has become finished.

HONORS FOR JOCKEY MAHER

LONDON, England, Dec. 8.—Madison just nosed out Danny Maher for second place in the list of winning jockeys, taking 104 races to Maher's 103. If Danny had not returned to America before the season closed he would doubtless have been listed in second place.

The American jockey won the unique distinction of being the only jockey whose every mount throughout the season could have been backed and left the backer a winner. If $10 had been placed on each of Maher's mounts to win, the player would have been $250 to the good. If he had been played across the board in each of his races, the winnings would have been much greater. His percentage of winners was nearly 20 per cent, and his mounts were in the money nearly 70 times out of 100. No other jockey came anywhere near this record.

Daddy Serpent Bites are as common in India as stomach and liver disorders with us. For the latter, however, there is a sure remedy. Electric Bitters, the great restorative medicine, of which S. A. Brown of Benningville, S. C., says: "They restored my wife to perfect health; after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric Bitters cure cholera and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold on guarantee by Osgood Brothers, druggists, Broadway, corner of Seventh and Washington, corner of Twelfth. Price 50c.
